Democrats Ask Specific Plans From Ike Rural Apathy Holds Up School Program

City Board Awaiting Decision

Limited Plan May Be Forced Here

The proposed Greater Kingston Area Consolidation, temporarily stalemated by lack of enthusiasm in the rural areas, is becoming increasingly thorny to a Kingston Board of Education faced with mounting school problems within the city.

Its building program, both long and short range, is effectively stymied by reluctance of rural school districts to bring the consolidation issue to a vote. It was disclosed at the regular monthly meeting of the board last night that the State Education Department thinks a consolidation referendum at this time in the rural districts would be defeated despite the fact that petitions bearing the signatures of more than 50 percent of eligible voters in those districts have been submitted to Albany.

In the meantime, the Kingston Board of Education continues to tread water with its much-needed school building program.

City May Lose Interest

It is the feeling of the Board that it should go ahead with its proposed building plans—a limited program which it feels is needed regardless of consolidation.

If this "package" plan should be completed before consolidation, however, it is felt that it would be considerably more difficult to rally city voters to support of a costly school construction program in the rural areas under the proposed consolidation.

Joint Meeting Sought

The Board is seeking a joint meeting with trustees of the 20-odd rural districts involved in the proposed consolidation.

Superintendent of Schools Earl Soper was directed to invite Francis E. Griffin, Bureau of Rural Administrative Services of the State Department of Education, to Kingston for such a meeting late this month—Wednesday, Jan. 29, if it can be arranged.

Discussion by board members indicated a hardening of their position on the issue of consolidation.

Press for Decision

The feeling of the board appears to favor a "facing up" to the issue (Continued on Page 6, Col. 6)

Norma Campbell's Condition Good

A teenage girl who jumped out of her second story bedroom window to escape the fire destroying her home at Ulster Park yesterday, was reported in good condition at Kingston Hospital this morning.

Norma Campbell, 18, daughter of Mrs. Lucille Campbell of River Road, Ulster Park was taken to Kingston Hospital where it was reported she had suffered lacerations of both hands and lip when she jumped to safety.

Miss Campbell was in her upstairs bedroom at the time of the fire, which, according to Deputy Chief Harry C. Jump Jr., of Port Ewen Fire Department, started downstairs in the two-story 12-room-frame, Old Chaffee Farm.

The fire which according to Jump destroyed the structure was reported to the fire department shortly before noon. Two pumper trucks were dispatched. Two trucks of Esopus Fire Company were also on the scene.

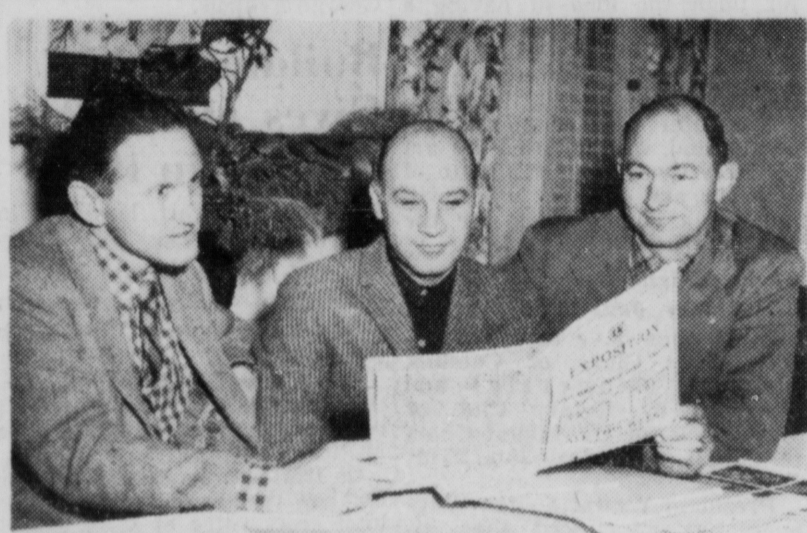

Deputy Chief Jump said it was necessary to pump the water uphill from the river. About 1,500 feet of hose were used in the line from the river.

Mrs. Campbell, an employee of Kingston High School cafeteria was called to the fire from work. A son, Robert Jr., 20, and a daughter, Belle, 22 were also at work at the time of the fire.

Mrs. Campbell told The Freeman today that her house is a total loss. She said she did not know how much insurance was on the place as the policies and other important papers were destroyed in the fire.

Deputy Chief Jump said about 45 or 50 volunteer firemen fought the blaze which was still burning at Freeman press time yesterday.

The Campbell family is temporarily staying at a nearby farm of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richards.

PLANNING LIONS EXPOSITION—March 25 through 29 are the dates for the 11th annual Kingston Area on Parade Exposition and Home Show of the Kingston Lions Club at the 156th Field Artillery National Guard Armory, Manor Avenue. It has been announced by the committee. Making plans are (l-r) Dr. Stephen McGrath, George Svirsky, first vice president of the club and J. Wilson Tinney, president. Arrangements call for the most elaborate annual event which is expected to attract more than 15,000 people. Funds go to projects for community betterment. Others on the committee are Donald Briggs and Richard Kalish, second and third vice presidents, who are co-chairmen; Donald Decker, Edward DeTemple, Dr. Saul Goldfarb, Lawrence Jensen, Sam Kwasnowski, Michael Marchuk, Robert Nadler, Dr. Jeremiah Sachs, Henry Singer, Robert Strickland and Paul Valliere. ### Autopsy Ordered After Chambers Boy Found Dead

An autopsy was ordered today to determine the cause of death of Jesse B. Chambers Jr., 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse B. Chambers, of 19 West Union Street, who was found dead in the bathroom of his home at about 7 a. m. today.

Coroner Francis J. McCordle was notified and ordered the autopsy, after his first investigation failed to indicate an apparent cause of death.

The boy, it was reported, had watched television in his home until after midnight and then had gone to the bathroom. He was found there still clothed this morning.

The coroner indicated that it could not be determined without an autopsy whether the boy's death was due to some previous injury, or was the result of some (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

GOP Minimizes Links Tie With Probe Figures Seen Routine

ALBANY (U)—Two of New York State's Republican leaders describe as true, but insignificant, reports connecting them with figures in the Apalachin underworld probe.

The political camp of Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney weighed the effect of disclosures linking his name with one of the men nabbed by police at the gangster confab.

Assembly Majority Leader Joseph Carlino minimized a disclosure linking his name with a man who was not at the convention but who is wanted for questioning in a legislative probe of the crime cabal.

Mahoney, a likely challenger for the Republican nomination for governor, acknowledged yesterday that he had helped obtain a state license for a wholesale liquor outfit headed by John C. Montana. Mahoney said his Buffalo law office handled the application in 1949 as routine business, and processed renewal of the permit in the same manner in 1956.

"There was no question of political influence," he told The Associated Press.

Carlino dismissed as insignificant the disclosure of Republican Assemblyman Daniel S. Dickinson, Jr. of Broome County that Dickinson had inquired into the arrest charges in 1956 at Carlino's request.

Trail Visible Briefly

It rose slowly through hazy clouds. Its bright trail of fire was visible for almost three minutes.

The thunder of its thirty engines—a primary motor and two boosters—could be heard even after the missile itself vanished in high clouds.

Shortly before disappearing into the overcast, the missile arched over gradually to the southeast, over the test range which extends 5,000 miles out across the Atlantic Ocean.

The Atlas is the American answer to the Soviet claim of intercontinental ballistic capability.

This was the second apparently successful firing of "The Beast," as the Atlas is known to its builders.

On the first two tries, the big missile started to get out of control shortly after launching and had to be destroyed.

The third launching last Dec. 17 was successful over a 600-mile range. The Air Force said the missile landed in a pre-selected target area.

On Same Schedule

Today's test was believed scheduled for about the same distance. No attempt to fire the Atlas over its full 5,000-mile range is expected until late this year. It is designed to carry a hydrogen warhead that distance in 25 minutes.

Reaction Is Cold to Red Note

Bulgarian Proposes East-West Parley

WASHINGTON (U)—Russia's latest and most insistent demand for an east-west summit conference on crucial cold war issues got intensive study—and a cold reaction—today in official Washington.

Secretary of State Dulles was expected to respond informally at an afternoon news conference to the new maneuver by Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

In a message to President Eisenhower, Bulganin said he proposes to call an east-west summit meeting, perhaps in Geneva, in the next two or three months. Pravda said Bulganin messages went to the 15 NATO nations and the other countries of the 82-member United Nations. Moscow Radio said Switzerland and other nations not in the U. N. also received messages.

No U. S. Change

At the White House and at the State Department there was no evidence that the United States intends to change its basic policy against having a new top-level meeting under present conditions.

The policy as set forth by Dulles on various recent occasions is that any such conference must be preceded by careful diplomatic exploration and evidence that the Soviet government is prepared to make concessions in its position on such issues as disarmament and German reunification.

Officials here were aware, however, that Bulganin's new diplomatic broadside may generate new hope in Europe that something can now be accomplished toward reducing the dangers of a devastating nuclear war.

Dulles was reported to have expressed some optimism yesterday on the prospect of resuming disarmament negotiations below the summit level. Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) said Dulles, in talking with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, "expressed some hope about the future."

Need for 'Feelers'

"He said he had reasons to believe Russia might be more amenable to discussion of disarmament later—that something may develop that would improve the climate for negotiation," Fulbright added, but said Dulles did not discuss his reasons.

Fulbright and several other members agreed, in commenting on the Russian note, that a summit conference is not indicated now, but they said there is a need for preliminary "feeler" negotiations.

"We ought to begin thinking in terms of preparatory talks" from the ambassadorial level up, Fulbright said, "and explore the possibility of ultimate agreements."

Along the same line, Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said that "if the ambassador's accomplish anything at all concrete, we could go on to the foreign minister level" and possibly eventually to a summit meeting.

Russia already has rejected a NATO suggestion for a foreign ministers' meeting as a means of breaking the disarmament deadlock.

Reds Note Prejudices

According to Moscow Radio, which broadcast a summary, Bulganin's newest note also opposed the foreign ministers' meeting, saying that "certain possible participants in a meeting at this level" would bring prejudices.

Patrolmen's Association Asks Rider Apologize for 'Slandorous Remarks'

The Kingston Patrolmen's Association has called for a written apology from Worthington L. Rider for "unqualified slanderous remarks" made during the hearing on the 1958 tentative city budget.

A letter to Rider, mayoralty candidate last fall on the Economy Party ticket, asks a "written apology" within 10 days. It was signed by William Slover, president of the association.

At the budget hearing December 30 in the Common Council chamber, while calling for a $200,000 reduction in the budget, Rider said $100,000 of it could be made in the police department.

Recalling the hearing on the 1957 budget in December of 1956, Rider referred to a police salary delegation as a "united mob."

The letter points out that Rider "carefully avoided" pointing out how the cuts could be made without curtailing efficiency.

The letter was directed to Rider at a meeting of the association Thursday night. The text follows:

"On behalf of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, I wish to advise that we emphatically take issue with the inaccurate and unfounded public remarks concerning the Kingston Police Department made by you at the Common Council meeting on December 30th, 1957.

"In addition, we seriously (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Ave, Legislature Map Plans to Aid Retarded

ALBANY (U)—Moves were launched on two fronts today to provide more special facilities for educating mentally retarded children.

$34,500 Verdicts

Are Awarded in Collision Action

Verdicts totaling $34,500 were returned in the action brought in Supreme Court by Louise Schuenemann and her husband, Heinz, and Leona Halder and her husband, Leo, for injuries which were received by Mrs. Schuenemann and Mrs. Halder when the car operated by Mrs. Schuenemann was involved in an accident at Boiceville Oct. 27, 1956.

The action was brought against Mark J. Furst, driver of a vehicle owned by Furnett, Inc., which was being operated westerly on Route 28.

Mrs. Schuenemann was awarded $13,500 for her injuries and her husband $1,500 for loss of services and medical bills. Mrs. Halder was awarded $18,500 and her husband $1,000.

N. LeVan Haver appeared for plaintiffs and Andrew J. Cook Jr., appeared for defendant.

A second action brought by passengers in the Schuenemann car was settled after the trial was commenced. That action was brought against both the driver of the Furnett, Inc. car and the owner, Richter and Werbalowsky appeared in those actions in which Edward C. Hearn, Sue Simon and Paula Ganci sued for injuries as passengers in the Schuenemann car and Salvatore J. Ganci and Harry Simon sued to recover medical bills and for loss of services.

Gov. Harriman announced plans for construction of a 40-million-dollar school for the mentally retarded near Melville in Suffolk County.

The Legislature's committee on mental retardation introduced bills that, among other things, would require school districts with less than 10 mentally retarded children to provide special classes.

Another would authorize school districts to combine to operate special classes for the physically and mentally handicapped and to employ approved psychologists as well as teachers.

WASHINGTON (U)—Nelson A. Rockefeller told investigating senators today a drastic overhaul of defense machinery and goals must "be taken now to assure our survival."

He said this was the unanimous opinion of some 50 national leaders who participated in a study of the present defense mechanisms and long-range policies.

Sees Critical Decisions

Rockefeller testified before the Senate preparedness subcommittee which has been probing deep into U. S. missile, satellite and weapons programs. The inquiry was touched off by the success of Soviet Sputniks and indications the Russians are ahead of this country in rocketry.

Rockefeller said this nation, as a leader of the free world, faces critical decisions in the next 10 to 15 years in the field of international security.

He said the study panel set up by a family foundation he heads will have later reports on political, economic and human aspects of these problems.

Last weekend, a special 21-man study group headed by Rockefeller urged greater unification of the armed services in part by a recasting of the role of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Asked Spending Setup

Among many recommendations, this panel of the Rockefeller brothers fund proposed a stepup in defense spending by about three billion dollars annually for the next several years.

This nongovernmental study, begun in 1956, found that U. S. strategy lags behind technological developments, and that the United States "is rapidly losing its lead in the race of military technology."

The panel said the joint chiefs function "too often as a committee of partisan adversaries engaged in advancing service strategic plans and compromising service differences."

Favors One Command

The Rockefeller group called for creation of combined forces that would bring land, sea and air units under single command.

One of its most novel proposals was that all officers above one-star rank cease to be identified with any individual service. Instead, they would become officers "of the armed forces of the United States."

Gates Quits Reds

NEW YORK (U)—John Gates, editor of the American Communist Party's daily newspaper and a leader in the party many years, announced today he is quitting the party immediately.

At a news conference he asserted that "the Communist Party ceases to be an effective force for democracy, peace and socialism in the United States."

A Gates faction in the party has for some time been involved in a bitter conflict with another group, headed by party chieftain William Z. Foster. The Foster forces in a dominant party position, a few days ago ordered suspension of the party paper, The Daily Worker.

Weissman Due Monday Given Extra Time on Records for Jury

Saul Weissman 306 Gregg Avenue, Teaneck, N. J., owner of the Petford Fence Company, was served with a subpoena Thursday at Monticello where it is stated he had gone "to consult an attorney."

Since service was effected in Monticello Weissman asked for an adjournment of his appearance before the Ulster County grand jury until Monday in order to permit him to return to New Jersey and pick up records and documents which he may require on appearance before the grand jury.

District Attorney Howard C. St. John said today he had granted an adjournment of Weissman's appearance before the grand jury until Monday.

Probing Rider Charges

The grand jury is conducting an investigation into the charges made by Worthington L. Rider, defeated Economy Party candidate for mayor of Kingston at the November election. He has allegedly charged that the Petford Fence Company was a "dummy" company formed for the purpose of "robbing" the people of Kingston.

Some Feel Proposals Fall Short

Speedy Action Is Johnson's Pledge

WASHINGTON (U)—Democrats called on President Eisenhower today to back up with specific blueprints for action the eight-point program he laid before Congress yesterday.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, of Texas set the show-me tone of reaction to the proposals Eisenhower outlined in his State of the Union message. Eisenhower "they are needed to meet the growing space era threat of what he repeatedly called "Communist imperialism."

Worthy Objectives

"The President has in general terms set forth some worthy objectives," Johnson said in an interview. "He has called for the strengthening of our allies, greater understanding and commerce between nations and attempts to bring peace to the world. These have long been Democratic objectives."

"Now we are waiting for his blueprints for meeting those objectives. As soon as he lays them down our committees will promptly consider his recommendations."

Although Johnson and Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) both praised Eisenhower's speech in statements yesterday, there was mounting evidence of Democratic disappointment that Eisenhower did not make any spectacular proposals for an immediate buildup in American military might.

An analysis of the President's proposals circulated among Democratic senators said that basically the message was "long on proposals and short on performance." "Even the program to step up national security boils down to pumping a little more money into existing projects and promising vaguely to reorganize the defense structure," the analysis said.

GOP Praise Unanimous

The Republicans were practically unanimous in their praise of Eisenhower's personally delivered message. Some Democrats lauded it but many of them were critical.

Eisenhower was interrupted 41 times by applause during the 44 minutes he addressed a joint session of Congress in the House chamber. Republicans provided most of the applause, but Democrats often joined in and occasionally led the outbursts.

The show of enthusiasm, like the world situation, differed sharply from that at the start of 1957. Only five rounds of applause interrupted the entire 1957 address to Congress.

Geisler Apartment Damaged by Blaze

Fire which spread from a flooded space heater damaged the second-floor apartment of George H. Geisler, 24 Cordts Street last night.

The family, which includes four small children, got safely from the apartment after Mrs. Geisler had made futile attempts to check the fire with a blanket.

The blaze was the second yesterday attributed to defective operation of an oil space heater. The other reported at 11:47 a. m. yesterday, damaged a bedroom in the home of James Brown, 11 Meadow Street.

Firemen were called for the Cordts Street fire at 6:34 p. m. Cornell station and the Cordts company answered, and when Deputy Chief Howard Myer arrived, he called in the engine and truck from Central station and the Wicks salvage unit.

Damage was most extensive in the kitchen near the source of the fire. Damage by heat and smoke was reported elsewhere in the apartment and some water damage was noted in the first floor apartment of Paolo Sergio. Three tarps were spread on the first floor.

The two-story and basement frame house is owned by Joseph Cozza, of 40 North Street.

Mrs. Geisler, the fire report said, had apparently lit the oil unit while it was flooded.

Firemen used a 1½-inch pump line and a 2½-inch gravity line. Firemen were at the scene until 8 p. m. Engine 4 of the Wicks Company covered at Central Station and Union Hose Company was ordered to stand by.

Ike to Propose $74 Billion in Spending Budget

WASHINGTON (U. S. — President Eisenhower will send to Congress Monday a missile age budget calling for $73,800,000,000, or more in spending and an increase in the federal debt ceiling, government informants said today.

The new budget, covering the 1959 fiscal year starting next July 1, will be precariously balanced, as Eisenhower hinted in his State of the Union message yesterday.

May Show Deficit

But the President will notify Congress that the supposedly balanced budget for the present government year is now expected to show a small deficit instead of a planned 1½ billion dollar surplus, officials disclosed.

Eisenhower reportedly will attribute the return to deficit financing to two factors: (1) a $1,300,000,000 increase in scheduled Defense Department outlays; and (2) a drop of about a billion dollars in estimated revenues, caused by declining business profits and personal income.

The deficit will be well under a half-billion dollars, informants said, but the return to red ink is a major disappointment to the administration. Only three months ago the administration announced that it would have its third balanced budget in a row.

The same causes—faster military spending, slower tax collections—will oblige Eisenhower to seek a temporary, "slight" increase in the 275 billion dollar ceiling on the public debt, administration sources said.

The Treasury had hoped this year to avoid puncturing the debt ceiling imposed by Congress as a curb on executive spending. Some influential legislators, during last spring's congressional "economy drive," announced they would refuse to vote for an increase.

No Resistance Due

This resistance is expected to fade quickly, however, under the government-wide pressure for a defense speed-up to enable this country to match and exceed Soviet progress in missiles, rockets, and scientific weaponry.

The expected budget request of close to 74 billion dollars will be about two billions higher than Eisenhower's original estimate for this fiscal year and roughly one billion higher than this year's actual outlays.

This will represent the highest federal spending since World War II. Former President Harry S. Truman had a bigger budget in 1953, costliest year of the Korean War, but his $74,300,000,000 budget included highway spending and Eisenhower's does not. A separate highway trust fund was established under a 1956 law.

Weissman Due

the office of State Commissioner of Investigations Arthur L. Reuter is also proceeding. "Touched off originally by the police scandal in Kingston which resulted in the dismissal and suspension of several policemen and convictions for illegal entrance to places in Kingston, the investigation has broadened its scope and appears now to have become a general investigation."

No Comment on 'Fracas'

At the office of Commissioner Reuter at the New York State Armory today there was a "no comment" reply from Chief Counsel Benjamin F. Nolan when asked in regard to an alleged "fracas" at the county court house on Thursday when it is stated members of the investigation committee were met with objection while attempting to view records in the county treasurer's office.

It is alleged there were "harsh words" between members of the investigating staff and an attorney who objected to the investigation staff's activities at the office of the county treasurer where they had sought certain records.

Nobody Talking

It is reported the investigating staff members were ordered from the office where they had sought to inspect records.

Asked whether there might not be subpoenas issued, Nolan said "no comment."

There was also no comment from county officials who it is alleged may have been served with subpoenas to produce documents.

At present the whole matter was being treated as a "deep dark secret" by all concerned but it is anticipated there may be "fireworks" later.

Autopsy Ordered

kind of a condition or mishap while he was in the bathroom.

Born in Kingston, he was a freshman at Kingston High School. Besides his parents, three sisters, Ruth, Patricia and Donna, and two brothers, Richard and Donald, survive.

The funeral will be held at the Jensen and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs Street, Monday at 2 p. m. The Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery. Friends may call any time Saturday and Sunday.

N-B Ferry Goes Aground in Fog, 30 Taken Ashore

NEWBURGH (U. S. — A ferryboat with about 30 passengers aboard ran aground during a heavy fog today on a pile of rocks in the Hudson River, a few hundred feet from Beacon, N. Y.

The vessel was believed in no danger of sinking, but lifeboats were lowered to enable the passengers to get to shore.

The ferry, the "Dutchess," had left Newburgh at 5:40 a. m. for the mile-long trip to Beacon, on the east side of the Hudson.

The passengers were rowed to shore but trucks and automobiles had to be left aboard.

The State Bridge Authority, which operates the ferry, said it was hoped the vessel would be able to free itself.

Youth Court Act Branded Failure

BUFFALO (U. S. — The president of the County Judges Assn. of New York last night branded the state youth court act a "failure" and accused the suppression of crime news.

Niagara County Judge E. J. Koenigberg told a meeting of Erie County judges and police officials that youth court act theory, applied nation-wide, would keep the public from seeing the true crime picture.

Suppress News

He said half the major crimes committed in the nation daily are by persons under 21, and that youth court provisions suppress news in certain cases.

"Like an ostrich who sticks his head in the sand," he said, "some people think if you don't print news of crime that crime will fade away."

"That isn't true," he declared. "You can't blame the newspapers."

"We have a serious condition of emergency where the nature of crimes committed is changing in manner and quantity," he said.

"We are coming to the point where it looks almost chaotic with regard to the number of crimes committed by young people."

Repeat Moves Underway

Erie County Judge Jacob A. Latona termed the youth court act "impossible to administer."

"It does nothing but create confusion," he said.

The youth court act is now scheduled to go into effect until April 1. Movements are underway to revise or repeal the act before then.

Wrong Arrest Listed

In Wednesday's account of two tractor-trailers in collision on the Thruway, it was inadvertently reported that the driver of the truck owned by Finnegan's Warehouse, Newburgh, was arrested on a charge of speeding. According to Trooper David Wachtel of the Thruway patrol, Vernon Davis Jr., 31, of Middletown, driver of a tractor-trailer owned by the C & E Transportation Co., of Saugerties, and Rhinebeck was arrested for speeding. Trooper Wachtel said the tractor-trailer operated by Davis, owned by C & E, plowed into the rear of the Finnegan Warehouse truck. Both were proceeding north. Arthur Babcock, 58, of Newburgh, driver of the Finnegan truck was taken to Kingston Hospital with minor injuries, state police reported. Babcock and Charles Daubenheimer, his companion on the truck were both reported by hospital authorities today as fairly good.

3 on Carrier Killed

YOKOSUKA, Japan (U. S. — Three U. S. Navy men were killed and two critically injured today in a catapult explosion aboard the attack aircraft carrier Kearsarge, the Navy said.

The explosion occurred as the 41,000-ton carrier prepared to launch planes in a routine training exercise off the south coast of Honshu Island, Japan.

"Names of the dead and injured are unknown," said the brief Navy announcement.

The explosion, in the flattop's starboard catapult room, will be investigated by a Navy board.

Okays Fluoridation

NEW YORK (U. S. — The policy-making council of the Medical Society of the State of New York yesterday approved the proposal for fluoridation of New York City's water supply.

The society president, Dr. "Hurman B. Givan of Brooklyn, said the group had concluded that "beyond any reasonable doubt water fluoridation is an effective and safe procedure for preventing tooth decay."

Asks No Wetzel Mercy

ROCKINGHAM, N. C. (U. S. — Solicitor M. B. Boyette today asked a Richmond Superior Court jury to convict Frank E. Wetzel, 36, of first-degree murder in the killing of a North Carolina highway patrolman. He said there should be no recommendation for mercy.

The solicitor called the Nov. 5 revolver slaying of Patrolman Wister Lee Reece "the most heinous, most cruel and merciless killing I think I have ever heard of . . . he didn't have a chance."

A verdict such as Boyette asked would mean an automatic sentence of death in North Carolina's gas chamber for the resident of Fayette, N. Y.

Cooperative Hitchhikers

PHILADELPHIA (U. S. — A motorist spotted a couple of cooperative hitchhikers the other day at the Philadelphia end of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Apparently college boys, they carried this sign as they waited for a lift on the 200-mile trip. "Pittsburgh—we'll pay the toll."

Agency Planning Space Warfare May Get Half Billion

WASHINGTON (U. S. — The armed forces are expected to contribute both manpower and money to the Pentagon's new agency for planning weapons of space warfare. That organization eventually may work with a fund approaching a half billion dollars.

President Eisenhower, in his State of the Union message, gave a brief outline yesterday of the mission of the Advanced Research Projects Agency which Secretary of Defense McElroy is organizing.

Eisenhower said McElroy is concentrating into the single organization "all the antimissile and satellite technology undertaken by the Department of Defense."

Must Look Forward

The President also said elsewhere in his address that "we must be forward-looking in our research and development to anticipate and achieve the unimaginable weapons of the future."

The antimissile missile problem comes within the scope of the new agency's activity for two reasons: (1) the weapons will be those of the future; and (2) they will work out in the fringes of space to intercept and destroy incoming ballistic missiles, arching toward American targets at speeds of more than 10,000 miles an hour.

Eisenhower's reference to "satellite technology" presumably means the application to military requirements of developments in the development of scientific research satellites like the Navy Vanguard and the Army Jupiter-C projects.

This would mean exploitation and then development of satellites into actual space vehicles and whole weapons systems for outer space.

One of the earliest efforts of the ARPA probably will be to perfect a television-equipped, unmanned satellite to serve as a vehicle for reconnaissance over literally the whole world.

Details Not Given

Details of financing plans for ARPA are yet to be disclosed by the Pentagon, although some could come to light in the President's promised early decision on the findings of a special study on Pentagon reorganization, or in the annual budget message next Monday.

To date, the only definite disclosure has been that the Defense Department plans to transfer about 10 million dollars from its own fund to get the ARPA started.

Following this, reports from other quarters indicate a total of about 400 million may be shifted from funds of the Air Force, Navy and Army to support ARPA.

Scientists and technicians from the three services also are expected to be transferred to the space agency.

GOP Minimizes

his Long Beach home that Dickinson's account of the incident was correct.

Carlinio said a lawyer friend in the New York area had asked him to check into the arrest. He declined to name the lawyer but said, "we get these inquiries all the time—one lawyer asking another to look into a case for him."

He added, referring to Galante, "I didn't know who this fellow was or anything about his fellow."

Montana, a prominent Buffalo businessman, told the Legislature's watchdog committee last month he just happened to drop in at Joseph Barbara's home on Nov. 14 and knew nothing about the meeting.

Montana, like Mahoney, is a Republican and has been active in politics. He is a former Buffalo city councilman and once ran for Congress.

Mahoney discussed his work for the Frontier Liquor Corp. with reporters after the story broke in a New York City newspaper.

Only five days earlier in New York he said he would decide after the 1958 legislative session whether he would make an active bid for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

The story linking him with Montana's firm stirred fresh speculation on Capitol Hill over Mahoney's chances at the GOP convention.

Most political observers have regarded him as a long-shot, ranking behind Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck, former National Chairman Leonard Hall, and former U. S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell.

Mahoney said he did not handle the SLA matter personally and had never discussed it with Montana. He said he knew Montana through politics but never had any direct business dealings with him.

tricts with less than 10 mentally slow children to hold classes. Under the new proposal, they would either have to conduct such a class or contract with an adjacent agency to provide such education.

One resolution asks that the Legislature urge Harriman to establish within the Mental Hygiene Department a top-level officer responsible exclusively for the mentally retarded.

The other would urge the governor to direct the department to establish separate programs and facilities soon for those in state schools who are emotionally disturbed or present disruptive behavior problems.

Checks Accord Fire

A chimney fire in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Skinner of Winfield Corners, Accord was extinguished by the Accord Fire Department Thursday evening.

Accord Fire Chief Edward C. Carle said the alarm was sounded about 7 p. m. and was extinguished shortly after. Volunteer firemen cleaned out the chimney, and no damage was reported, he said.

Pike Will Show Film on Painting

John Pike, Woodstock's nationally famous illustrator, will show a colored film depicting the unusual history of a water color painting at Monday night's meeting of the Rotary Club.

Pike will narrate the background and interesting history of the film which had its setting in Dayton, Ohio, where he does extensive illustrating for the National Cash Register Co.

The film stemmed from an invitation to Pike by the art director of National Cash Register to demonstrate a water color before members of the Greater Dayton Art Association. Pike said he convinced the director this would not be feasible before a large audience because of the unusual aspects of water color painting. It was then he hit upon the idea of having a film made of all the steps involved in painting a water color on the black paper to the finished product.

The film was completed recently and will be used by art teachers throughout the state of Ohio in art classes. Pike will narrate a sound track for the film at a later date.

Charter Night Set For Rotary, Jan. 25

Invitations have been extended Rotary Clubs of Catskill, Phoenicia, Saugerties and Kingston by Rotary Club of Woodstock for its annual Charter Night, Saturday, Jan. 25 at Deane's.

President Walter S. Van Wagenen has announced that invited guests will include Mr. and Mrs. George Bagley, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Scudder and Mr. and Mrs. James G. Connelly. Bagley was District Governor when the Woodstock club was organized. Scudder is present district governor and Connelly was president of Rotary Club of Kingston when the Woodstock club was chartered.

Woodstock Personals

Kurt Butz, who is convalescing at Kingston Hospital following an operation, is expected home next week.

Mrs. Joseph (Georgiana) Hilton, a patient at the Kingston Hospital, is expected home this weekend.

Mrs. Donald Davis and sons, Donald Jr. and Jeffrey, have returned to their Ohayo Mountain Road home after a holiday vacation in Florida. While there they visited Mr. and Mrs. Donald Davis Sr. of Delray Beach and spent several days in Miami. Mr. and Mrs. Davis, who formerly resided on Ohayo Mountain Road, moved to Florida on Nov. 1.

Other Woodstock Fire Company officers named at the meeting held in the Lake Hill Service Station were: Robert Bartlett, Lake Hill, vice president; John Modia, Lake Hill, secretary; and Roy Van Wagner, Willow, treasurer.

The Rev. Clarence C. Murphy of Willow was named chaplain; James Nancavris, Lake Hill, captain; Otto Sonnenberg, Willow, first lieutenant; Egon Schreiner, Lake Hill, second lieutenant; Fred Freitag of Lake Hill was named to the executive committee for a three-year term.

Schreiner and Bartlett were chosen delegates to the Departmental Council, Emil Pecho and Albert Gander of Lake Hill were admitted as new members.

State Warms Up After Cold Wave

ALBANY (U. S. — New York State warmed up today after a brief bout with sub-zero temperatures.

As the cold front moved eastward and out of the state, the only sub-zero, overnight lows reported by the Weather Bureau were: Poughkeepsie 7, Glens Falls and Oneonta 5 and Albany 2. Elmira recorded zero.

Several points that were in the minus category Wednesday night were far on the plus side of zero early today.

Above-zero readings included: New York City, 20, Buffalo and Watertown 18, Rochester 17, Binghamton 12, Oneonta 11, Utica 10, Massena 9, Syracuse 6.

The Weather Bureau predicted overnight lows tonight would be as high as 25-30 in western New York and 10-25 in the eastern portion. A few snow flurries were on tap for tomorrow in all except the southeastern section.

Building Office Gives Out 312 Permits in 1957

William H. Swart, local building inspector, who has resigned, issued 312 permits for various kinds of building in 1957, representing a total gross value of $2,496,380, he reported today.

Permits issued were 81 less than the 1956 total, but gross value in construction was $433,673 higher in 1957.

Of 1957 permits issued, 61 were for new buildings representing a total gross value of $2,083,955. He issued 40 permits representing a total value of $208,001 for alterations.

Others issued included 48 for additions at a value of $71,330; heat installations, 57 at $37,431; tanks, nine permits at $35,950; private garages, 30 at $30,150; fire escapes, 14 at $10,368; repairs, 12 at $10,525; fire detection systems, four at $3,290; improvements, four at $3,880; sign panel unit, one at $1,500. He also issued 32 permits for demolitions.

Fire Levels Building

BOONVILLE (AP)—A former opera house was leveled in a spectacular fire in this northern Oneida County village last night. Local volunteers were helped by firemen from nearby Remsen and Forestport in a three-hour battle with the blaze.

Firemen declined to estimate the loss, but said the blaze apparently started from a faulty heating system.

The three-story wooden building was used by the Boonville Supply Co. as a farm implement show room and storehouse.

Veterinarians Elect

ITHACA (AP)—Dr. Arthur F. North of Somerville, N. J., is the new president of the Veterinarians Alumni Assn. of the State College of Veterinary and Medicine at Cornell University.

Also elected yesterday were Dr. John Proper of Honeye Falls, as vice president, and Dr. Stephan Roberts of Ithaca, as secretary-treasurer.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Businessmen now have the President's views on the state of the union. But their own views on the state of business continues confused today—most agree that over-all it is declining but in some sectors it's looking up.

News of rehiring is mixed in with reports of more layoffs. Strength of some commodity prices tempers the news of weakness in others.

Retail sales gains in some lines offset dips in others.

New Orders Slump
Prospects of new defense orders heartens some primary producers and the large number of supplier industries that service them. But other companies reports a slump in new orders.

Here are some of today's cross currents:
Chrysler announces it's laying off 4,000 workers in two of its auto making divisions. At the same time it says it will add 4,000 to its missile making plants during this year and has already started hiring.

United Auto Workers Union officials say that General Motors is idling 8,800 workers around the country. Ford has reported cuts in employment. U. S. rubber will idle 1,300 in tire making plants.

Auto dealers' stocks are estimated at 740,000, which is 200,000 more cars than at the start of the year.

The plight of many railroads has been well aired of late. Overall employment in the rail industry has slipped below one million for the first time in 18 years.

Layoffs Common
Layoffs in the steel industry have become commonplace. But Republic Steel is calling off its announced plan to idle 1,500 in Alabama.

International Harvester reports its employment rolls are now 1,000 fatter than a month ago.

On the commodity front price weakness has reappeared in copper after that beset metal put on a rear guard stand for a time after a long retreat. Zinc and lead continue on the weak side. Price weaknesses plague producers of wool, coffee, tea and rubber.

But cocoa prices have been rising and firmness in sugar prices heartens southern and western states and our neighbors to the south.

Crude oil prices, which rose a year ago during the Suez Canal crisis, now are threatened by high inventories, the dispute over oil exports, and the less than expected demand. Humble Oil & Refining has just cut the price of south-west Texas crudes.

High inventories—and the efforts to trim them—have plagued many other industries.

Manufacturers' stocks at 534 billion dollars still are 1½ billion higher than a year ago. But manufacturers, according to the latest available report, have been trimming them at a 10 per cent annual rate. This explains in large part the wails of many primary producers.

Less Retail Suffering
The retail front has suffered much less than the manufacturing one. Sales have managed to stay equal to or slightly over the year ago figure. But only 3 per cent of 2,000 retailers queried say they intend to add to stocks this spring.

And the newly elected president of the National Retail Merchants Assn., George W. Dowdy, Charlotte, N. C., retailer, tells reporters that a dip of one or two per cent in sales this spring is possible. But he adds that after that things look brighter and 1958 should top 1957.

Then he clouds the picture with the prediction that profits won't fare so well and merchants will have a hard row to hoe.

The state of business? Take your choice.

Standard Firm Executive Named To National Post

Chester L. Feinberg, general manager - treasurer of Standard Furniture Co. Inc., which operates furniture stores in Kingston, Albany, Troy, Schenectady, was elected a director of the National Retail Furniture Association at their Chicago convention Wednesday.

As one of the 23 directors, Feinberg will assist in formation of policies that will guide furniture organizations throughout the United States. The association helps retail furniture store managers to keep abreast of business trends.

Promoter and Organizer
Recognized for his ability as a promoter and organizer, Feinberg has been invited to teach at fall sessions for prospective young business executives at Northwestern University for the past several years.

Feinberg represents the third generation with Standard Furniture, his father, William A. Feinberg, Albany, operated the business with his father, Abraham Feinberg, and is still active in the administration as president.

Educated in Albany, Chester Feinberg graduated from Albany High School and Cornell University. He became general manager of the firm in 1946. He is a director of the Greater Troy Chamber of Commerce, is past president of Gideon Lodge, B'nai B'rith, a former Scoutmaster of Troop 2 of Albany; past member of the board of governors of Colonie Country Club and a past executive vice-president of the United Jewish Appeal for Albany and upstate New York. He resides at Loudonville with his wife the former Elayne Seville of New York City. They have four daughters.

Keep Plates for Test

ALBANY (AP)—About 2,000 cars with specially treated 1957 license plates will continue to display the plates after the Jan 31 deadline.

The plates, owned by the state and local governments, were issued last June to test their durability under various road and weather conditions.

The Tax Department said yesterday officials had been asked to use the plates through wintry conditions in February and March.

The Tennessee Valley Authority operates 18 dams on the Tennessee River and its tributaries.

Catskill Group Seeks Completion Of Onteora Trail

Early completion of the 16-mile stretch of Onteora Trail between Boiceville and the Delaware County line is being urged by members of the Central Catskill Association.

At a meeting of the association held this week at Pine Hill all members as well as business people in the area were urged to write to Governor Harriman urging early completion of this section of Route 28 known as Onteora Trail.

Plans Are Ready
W. Morton Bertrand, supervisor of the Town of Shandaken, and executive vice-president of the Central Catskill Association, said it was reported at the meeting that plans for the route are ready except for maps of the right of way. It was also stated at the meeting that there was $7 million dollars in federal funds which could be used for the job.

Members of the Association, business men, hotel and resort owners are asked to write the governor, asking for speedy construction of the route. Members of the Central Catskill Association, of which William Sperling of Margaretville is president, include residents generally from Mt. Tremper in Ulster County to Roxbury in Delaware County.

Bogus Check Crackdown

BINGHAMTON (AP)—Sheriff Ross L. Cooley plans to set up an identification system aimed at making life harder for persons who pass bad checks.

Between 2,000 and 3,000 business establishments in Broome County will be supplied soon with cards on which a customer offering a check will be asked to fill in name, home and business address, physical description, automobile driver's license number, and thumb print.

If the check clears, the merchant can dispose of the card. If it bounces, he can notify the sheriff's department.

Cooley said he expected the system—with posters prominently displayed in each business establishment—would discourage most bad-check passers at the outset.

Foreign tourists in Sweden can bring their automobiles duty-free for a period of one year.

The World Today*Future Will Tell About Wisdom of Ike, LawmakersBy JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—What counts in connection with president Eisenhower's warmly received State of the Union message to Congress — is what he and Congress do for the rest of 1958 to back up what he proposed.

This is for sure: There will be intense arguments this year over whether Eisenhower is doing "the right things, or enough of them, to keep abreast of Russia or to try to get ahead. The arguments have already begun.

Poor Position to Judge
As they unfold, the most puzzled man in America will be the average citizen to whom rockets, missiles, satellites, electronic engineering and research on space flights are still a mystery.

He'll be in poor position to judge who's right if Eisenhower proposes 500 million dollars for research on some out-of-the-world problem and his critics protest that at least twice as much is needed.

It will be years—probably after he's left the White House—before the wisdom of what Eisenhower proposes and Congress does this year can at last be tested against the accomplishments of the Russians.

Eisenhower showed awareness of the need for strenuous effort in the contest with Russia. And he offered no alibi because the kind of effort he calls for now wasn't made before.

Statement of Problems
But the message was only a statement of problems in general terms, a document of intentions. In the coming months Eisenhower will have to offer specific proposals to Congress to carry out what he only ranged over yesterday.

As a sign of conflict to come, even before he began talking yesterday, three high-ranking generals had found fault either with what Eisenhower has already begun to do or what he plans to do to build American defenses.

And the Democratic leader of the Senate, Lyndon Johnson of Texas, in a most unusual talk to the Democratic Senators Tuesday made it clear, without saying it in so many words, that the Democrats will do the leading if Eisenhower doesn't.

No Easy Time for Ike
Johnson reported he thought some of the missile programs should be speeded up.

For Eisenhower 1958 does not look like a year of easy sailing.

George Washington was born Feb. 22, 1732, in Wakefield, Va.

U.S. Portion Lower

WASHINGTON (AP)—The St. Lawrence Seaway Corp. estimates that the cost of building the U. S. portion of the seaway will be about seven million dollars less than what was estimated last year.

The Seaway Corp., the agency designated by Congress to construct the U. S. portion of the project, gave its newest estimate yesterday in its annual audit report to Congress.

The previous estimate, the corporation said, was about 133 million dollars. Now, because of a reduction in the estimated costs of dredging in the seaway's Cornwall Island section, the figure is $125,935,000.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 10, 1958

MORE THAN TALK?

Ever since Sputnik was launched, we have heard and read about the ineffectiveness of American education. Not a day passes but we hear and read more of the same. But the question is: Will this all be mere talk?

What has been done to improve American education? What is going to be done? And considering education, we should think of more than children and the youth. Many adults in America could well stand more education.

The Kremlin has launched an all-out offensive to become the dominating influence in the entire under-industrialized world. Today, the Russian targets are in Asia and Africa. Tomorrow, the target will be Latin America. Merely in order to meet the Russian offensive, the American citizenry needs to give itself more education. An intelligent and informed citizenry is needed now.

There are endless tasks to be performed, and vast resources of untapped intelligence in America. An improvement and expansion of adult education should also be inaugurated now. If adults lack knowledge and the thirst for knowledge, how can they be an inspiration to children? If a stronger mental, cultural, intellectual climate is not generated now, how can we expect to improve our educational system?

To date, a major reaction to Sputnik has been one of talk. Days are slipping by, and there are few signs of change in America. We have not as yet fully drawn the lessons which should have been revealed by Sputnik. We do not have unlimited time to do so.

More cigarettes were smoked in America in 1957 than in any previous year. One explanation may be that many of the doctors voicing warnings were smoking cigarettes at the same time.

LESSON NUMBER ONE

One doesn't have to travel far in social circles these days to encounter someone declaring that "the conquest of space" is at hand. This bold prophecy is tossed out glibly, more often than not by persons who have only the vaguest idea of what the phrase implies.

A few pointed questions serve to place such heroic proposals in a better perspective. A few statements of fact make it clear that, though man may soon venture a short distance away from his home planet, he is not going to "conquer space" for a very long time to come, if ever.

A jaunt to the moon, which circles the earth a mere 230,000-odd miles out, seems not at all unlikely. Even Venus and Mars, those close neighbors which are only a few million miles away, are not beyond man's probable reach—possible within the lifetime of some of us now living.

But if we were to reach those planets and colonize them and eventually cover them with a veneer of our own civilization, we would still be incredibly far from "the conquest of space." By astronomical standards, Venus and Mars are just outside Earth's back door.

Proxima Centauri, the star nearest our solar system, is approximately a million times farther away than Venus. It is so far that a space ship traveling at the speed of light (about 670 million miles per hour, as compared with Sputnik's snail-like 18,000 m.p.h.) would take four years to reach it. And Proxima Centauri is at the near edge of a vast gulf in which four light years is a trivial distance.

Those who think "the conquest of space" is imminent had better do some more homework. Lesson number one: Space is BIG.

Driving while sleepy was listed as the chief cause of fatal automobile accidents on the Ohio turnpike in 1957. This proves that although modern cars are the last

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THEY WERE SO SURE

I was recently clearing out some old papers to make room for new ones when I came across a letter written by a physician on March 4, 1942. It is not necessary to give the writer's name, as he has undoubtedly by now changed his mind. The doctor wrote:

"... In this article Mr. Sokolsky, in commenting on Stalin's recent speech, makes certain statements which, no matter how innocently intended are nevertheless grossly misleading and if permitted to go unchallenged, may impair a much needed unity among the Allies now fighting the Axis Powers."

The doctor was complaining about a piece I wrote on March 2, 1942 stating that Stalin was not then an ally of the United States in a very perilous situation, but that he was playing strictly his own game, which, of course, we now all know that he was doing.

All of this is over the dam and it can mean little to me to have been proved right or wrong in 1942. Fed up as we are so prophetic that we can foresee the future or so analytical that we never err. It seems to be the special province of the gossip columnists to quarrel over which one first said that the marriage between Mabel Pughose and Jack Blowhard is not taking. But in the less important affairs, such as, for instance, the rise of a new empire, imponderables such as weather or the shifting of continents may influence the course of events and change the tides of history.

Therefore historic calculations must always be made within margins of uncertainty. However made are guides and anyone who had read history and political and social history since 1848 might have been expected to recognize in 1942 that Stalin could not be a true ally of the United States and Great Britain; that in pursuit of the world revolution, he could accept the aid of the capitalist countries, but that from the standpoint both of historic determinism and self-interest, he would ultimately have to pull away from this alliance and go his own way.

This has proved to be true and today, Soviet Russia and its satellites are enemies of the United States working for our destruction and doing it very well.

The historic tragedy has been that Americans, on the whole, illiterate in Marxist literature, but full of the broad humanism of the Bible and the ethical and moral ideas which emanate from the Judaic-Christian religions, rejected too early the warnings against Russia; they rejected them because it was impossible even for some of our most clever men to detect the miserable nature of this enemy.

It was for this reason that the OSS, for instance, was so viciously infiltrated by Communists. Certainly no one in his senses would think, for a moment, that General "Wild Bill" Donovan could be insensible to the dangers of Communism, but the fact remains that whereas such an organization as the OSS should have been staffed entirely, from bottom to top, by dedicated Americans, Congressional investigations of Communists, fellow-travelers and spies, bring to the fore increasing numbers of former OSS personnel. The same is true of the OWI.

In the amalgamation of our espionage and intelligence activities into the CIA, headed by Allen Dulles, a man of remarkable knowledge and capacity, it was believed that a way had been found to eliminate the dangers of wrong personnel and failure to recognize the unusual tactics of the Russians. It is very doubtful, from the results, that CIA has achieved its goal and the reason is not far to seek.

The difference in mentality among peoples is not accidental; it is the entire history of civilization. It is the difference in thought between the Genghis Khan and St. Francis of Assisi. It is the mixture of Mongolian and Tatar peoples which developed the force and character of the present Russian type.

And so we went soft and underestimated and misunderstood who the true enemy was and is. Therefore, in 1958, we find ourselves pouring our wealth into West Germany, Austria, Italy and Japan which we tried to destroy and impoverish ourselves in preparation for what looks as though it might be the most devastating war in history—the war between the United States and Soviet Russia and her satellites, including Red China.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Ever since the Russians began deviling America's peace of mind with their infernal space gadgets the news out of this town has had strong overtones of calamity.

To hear it told out of here by the experts all U. S. scientists are staring into unfocused microscopes, no American college student knows his multiplication tables, no U. S. missile could hit the broad side of the Iron Curtain and all that's left is to beg for the kindest possible terms for surrender to the Soviet.

The citizen who pays his taxes outside the District of Columbia must conjure up a vision of government employees going to work darting from bomb shelter to bomb shelter down Pennsylvania Avenue so as not to get caught in the open when the first Red ICBM lands, or of every Pentagon officer's wife reminding her husband not to forget his poison ring when he leaves in the morning so he won't crack when the invading Russians take over.

Anybody will admit privately that things have generally been as dull as stone here for the past couple of years, mostly because the skinflints at the Treasury have been reducing the public debt about a billion a year.

But now that there's strong indication that they might take the top off the red ink bottle in deference to the Russian science education mill all of the agencies are looking toward happier, more prosperous times. It's stimulating to learn how eager they all are to repair the damage done by those Commie science teachers, and how they plan to do it.

AGRICULTURE researchers point out that increased farm production is essential in war, so they need more money. Labor Department experts need more dough because labor's skills must be better controlled for war production. The Army engineers need more funds to improve inland waterways because transportation has to be improved for the possibility of a mobilization.

Civil Aeronautics Board wants a budget increase to improve control of increased air traffic which results from a military buildup. Department of Commerce needs more funds to make plans for production and material controls for the arms speed-up period. The Weather Bureau needs more money to prepare for weapons of weather.

Washington's lobbies have jumped into the act with the same enthusiasm. The airlines need rate increases so they can buy jets, so the jets will be a stand-by fleet of cargo carriers for the Air Force.

The railroads need increases and other help because most war goods move on the railroads. Business needs tax relief to encourage its basic scientific research and expansion of war production facilities.

THE JOY which the Sputniks have brought to town goes beyond spending more money. The city's hostesses are overjoyed because everyone is suddenly in a party frame of mind. The satellite jokes alone have sparked up party conversation 100 per cent.

Obscure government researchers suddenly find themselves in great demand for radio and panel shows. Anyone who ever put a match to a Bunson burner is asked for advice on how to improve the quality of U. S. science. Anyone who ever had chalk dust on his hands is suddenly a sought-after education expert.

Anyone who nursed a sneaky admiration for any Russian institution can now trot out into the open and sell lectures and articles about how it explains why Russia is beating the U. S. in science.

Before Sputniks, 1958 was shaping up as another drab, balanced budget year for Washington. Now 1958 has every chance of being a banner year in the nation's Capital.

President's Message Seen As World Plea for Peace

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower today delivered perhaps the greatest state paper of modern times. It was not just a "State-of-the-Union" message. It was a message on the "State-of-the-World." It was not addressed just to the American people but to all the peoples of the world.

Far beyond its appraisals of domestic problems and the special issues that face America, Mr. Eisenhower made his first dramatic appeal to the people of the Soviet Union. Just as President Wilson in 1917 appealed to the German people above the autocratic government in Berlin, so today President Eisenhower appeals over the heads of the Communist government in Moscow to the people themselves in Soviet Russia.

A Significant Passage
This passage in his address will be of transcendent significance in winning the hearts and minds of people around the globe:

"My call for action is not primarily addressed to the Congress and people of the United States. Rather, it is a message from the people of the United States to all other peoples, especially those of the Soviet Union. This is the spirit of what we would like to say."

"In the last analysis there is only one solution to the grim problems that lie ahead. The world must stop the present destructive weapons of war, and turn the corner that will start our steps firmly on the words of peace. It requires works of peace."

"Our greatest hope for success lies in a universal fact: the people of the world, as people, have always wanted peace and want peace now."

"The problem, then, is to find a way of translating this universal desire into action. This will require more than words of peace. It requires work of peace."

An Appeal to People
Here in reality was an appeal for a different kind of "summit conference." It means more contact with peoples, not with dictators who have broken faith with everybody, including their own people.

The President outlined various means of co-operation in "works of peace" and, as a beginning, suggested co-operation in research projects in the field of cancer and heart disease. He recommended broad cultural and scientific programs, too, and showed clearly that America wants to extend the hand of friendship to the Soviet people.

Small wonder that leaders of both political parties here praised the address. For in it was a statement of American idealism which reflects the heart and mind of the American people today.

It was just the kind of address needed in the present crisis. There are, of course, some flaws pickers who want every detail spelled out or who fear their special projects for legislation may have to be postponed to get the money needed to finance missiles and new weapons.

There was in the President's speech a balanced emphasis on military matters—a careful exposition of how firmly the United States stands today well prepared against any possible attack and of how strong America expects to be in "deterrent power" in the not-far-distant future. But basically, the keynote was confidence and reassurance.

Economic Assurances
On the domestic situation, with a business decline going on that has increased unemployment, the President was forthright and outspoken. He said:

"There are solid grounds for confidence that economic growth will be resumed without an extended interruption. Moreover, the Federal government, constantly alert to signs of weakening in any part of our economy, always stands ready, with its full power, to take any appropriate further action to promote renewed business expansion."

The key words were "economic growth" and "business expansion," and this was just the note that the business world had hoped would be expressed by the President.

Mr. Eisenhower chose in the main an implicit rather than an explicit style of expression. He said he would give details in subsequent messages. But in this address he gave the spirit of the administration's whole approach to the challenges of the "Sputnik era."

Controversies there will be on mutual aid, tariffs, and the size of the appropriations for defense and non-defense items. But it is significant that the speech was interrupted with applause at least thirty-five times, and many of the outbursts were prolonged. The President looked healthy and spoke with his accustomed ease. It seems incredible that only a few weeks ago impulsive-minded politicians were calling on him to "resign."

Pleds for Disarmament
Mr. Eisenhower opened the door to the making of peace in the world. He pleaded for disarmament and promised that "we, as a nation, will always go the extra mile with any one on earth if it will bring us nearer a genuine peace."

Mr. Eisenhower reviewed particularly the past efforts at disarmament negotiations and challenged the Soviets to resume the parleys which they have up to now refused to reopen. So far as the United States is concerned, it was revealed to the world, as a nation ready to spend whatever is necessary to be strong militarily to resist attack but also as a nation ready to agree to a disarmament plan the moment "a reliable means to insure compliance by all" can be found.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—If you could have heard me the other night, you would have been agape at my brilliance, logic and sublime moral courage. But eulogy is a little out of my line so I will abate the hero-worship and get into the act which took place at a magnificent salon of the Haute-Monde, the Bon Ton and the Cognoscenti. You know what I mean, Rich people!

This pretty lady said something about the Mafia, and name-dropper that I am, I said, "Frank Costello is lunching with me tomorrow." And if you don't believe he did, ask the cops; ask Hogan's office; ask the USDA or the FBI. Don't low rate me. I know people. Costello wants me to write the story of his life, but I am up to my eyes in a great philosophical historical speculation under the working title of "The Day Tony Cermak Got Shot and I had to have to go off and hole up in Spain like Bob Ruark. People pester me so."

When I said Costello was lunching with me, you might have thought I had pinched her like a Roman boulevardier. She let out a squawk and she said, "Lunching? Costello? The Prime Minister of Crime? The dictator of the International Underworld? Aren't you ashamed? Or embarrassed?"

I said, "your husband is a big operator in the newspaper world. If this character is the prime minister of crime, why don't your husband's papers expose him fearlessly?"

She said, "They have. Everybody knows about all those murders; the what-you-call-it case you know, that Mafia murder in the barber shop a few weeks ago. And the narcotics ring."

I said, "one thing at a time. All about what murders? Sister, if you know all about my murders, you have a moral and legal duty to go right down and tell Frank Hogan, the D.A. because Hogan has been setting traps for Costello for more than 20 years and, so far, the best he could do was 30 days for contempt of a grand jury when Costello refused to tell them what some figures meant on a little chit of paper which some cops stole out of his pockets when some dastardly criminal shot him alongside the ear."

Why didn't the cops pinch the gunman? They already knew what the figures meant and so did the FBI. And anyway, it was none of the grand jury's business what those figures meant. Somebody shot Costello. That was a crime against him. Then some cop unlawfully searched the clothing of an emergency patient in a hospital and stole a certain piece of paper, his lawful property. They should have pinched the cop. The grand jury should have indicted the cop; and indicted Kennedy, the commissioner, because responsibility for criminal acts of his cops goes up to him. But instead, some judge gave the victim 30 days and then choked up and let him out after 15 days."

This lady said: "Do you mean to tell me you sincerely believe Costello is innocent?"

I said: "Innocent of what?"

She said: "All those murders."

I said: "The guy isn't even accused of murder. Any more than you are. He isn't accused of narcotics."

She said: "Oh yes, but just because they rake in all those millions so they can hire the cleverest lawyers in the country, don't try to tell me he is innocent. And you know perfectly well."

I said, "doesn't your husband rake in a lot of millions? He better, considering the cost of newspaper and the Guild and all those mechanical unions bleeding the poor publishers white."

I said, "and what kind of lawyers does your husband hire? Don't you know him? All those lawyers know him. They are his friends. He's in a jam. I want the dumbest lawyer in the whole country. Who do you recommend?"

I said, "that Frank Hogan thinks he is a pretty smart lawyer, himself, and the people seem to think he is the most, because they pay him all the law allowances and they keep on re-electing him. So why should Costello hire dumb lawyers? Would you?"

She is a very pretty lady, but she was getting edgy. Because everybody knows Costello is the prime minister of crime. Her husband's papers say so right out in the open. So why doesn't Costello sue if he isn't?

I said: "I don't know. Give the guy time. If he gets clever enough lawyers and your husband's lawyers are dumb enough, he might back up a wagon and take away the stock and fixtures."

The pretty lady said: "Well, we got him at last and his 'ever lawyers weren't clever enough this time."

I said: "Do you know what he got five years for? Not for murder. Not for narcotics. Not for Mafia. He got five years for signing his name on a piece of paper."

She said: "Well, they had to get him for something. After all, what about law and order?"

Why We Say--

FROST: When we say that someone has "cold feet" we mean that they are afraid of something. The expression started with soldiers in the 19th century. One of the chief ailments in battle was frozen feet... but it was also said that some soldiers feigned this trouble to avoid battle.

Error Is Big Defense Play

I dodged for the door but the unlucky expert was too quick for me. He blocked my path and probably would have brought me down with a flying tackle if I hadn't stopped to listen to his latest horror. Here it is:

"I had a good 18-point no-trump and my partner had a sound raise to three. Furthermore, the king of diamonds was held by East and normally I would have made at least four odd but look what happened."

"West opened the jack of spades. I played low from dummy and naturally East showed up with the king. Back came a spade and I had worries. If I had just seen the king of diamonds in the East hand I would have gone after that suit but I had an extra chance running for me. Maybe East held a singleton king of clubs. In any event it could only cost me an extra hundred points to see about it and I played a low club from dummy."

"Out came the king from East and everything looked rosy. I took my ace, led the nine of clubs and let it ride. East now produced the jack and returned a spade. I was down two tricks."

"If East did it intentionally it was quite a play," I remarked. "I imagine it was another lucky accident."

"It sure was but I can't call it lucky," he replied. "When East took his jack of clubs he apologized profusely to his partner for

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON DISCUSSES WHAT IS STRENGTH?

Babson Park, Mass., Jan. 11.—I shall begin the New Year by discussing something far more important than stocks, bonds, real estate, or mortgages. My text will be the slogan which President Eisenhower brought back from Paris, namely:

Strength With Peace

What is strength? We all know that it consists of something far more than and very different from guns, navies, airplanes, or missiles. Yet, these are the things that we read about chiefly in the newspapers and magazines. This is the "strength" which physicists, engineers, and metallurgists are called to Washington to discuss.

Real Strength Comes From What?

Real strength comes from courage, faith, hardiness, and rejoicing in sacrifice. Have we got this strength? Are any civil men being called to Washington to instill this strength in our people? Our unbalanced setup is foolish and dangerous. More scientists will not save us. Our missiles, costing millions of dollars each, may be no more effective than the Great Wall of China or the Maginot Line of France.

Instead of training our youth for courage, the training of our homes, schools, and even churches is for softness. Our manufacturers and merchants advertise "easy living"; our schools provide "plush" accommodations; our automobiles must have power steering, automatic brakes, and push button windows. We are the world's worst example of "training for softness" rather than for strength. (Exceptions are our marines and certain others of our armed services,—but these fine men make up only about one per cent of our population. Furthermore, these men know nothing of hardship until they enter the service after their habits have been formed.)

Some Examples of Our Foolishness

In recent issues of a great

Special Plates Will Be Good Through April 1

ALBANY—There are 1,968 motor vehicles in the state which will continue to display 1957 registration plates beyond the January 31 passenger car deadline—and it will be legal.

Taxation and Finance Commissioner George M. Bragalin has requested State and local officials in charge of the 1,968 vehicles to continue using their 1957 plates until April 1, 1958. All of the affected vehicles are owned by State or local government agencies and are in the fee-exempt class.

The plates involved are specially treated, reflectorized, experimental plates issued for certain public-owned vehicles last June for purposes of testing durability under different road and weather conditions in various parts of the state, as well as possible safety and identification benefits of reflectorization.

Plates to Go the Winter

The officials were asked to continue using the '57 test plates during February and March so that the plates will get a thorough dose of winter weather and chemicals used on some streets and highways to combat snow and ice.

Police enforcement agencies have been advised of the extension for the test-plate vehicles, and drivers of the affected cars will carry a special time-extension permit certifying that their plates are valid until next March 31.

At the end of the test period, April 1, the various officials will be asked to return the special plates to the Motor Vehicle Bureau together with their personal observations. The plates will then be examined to determine the extent of deterioration in various parts of the state.

NO TWO THINGS ARE EXACTLY ALIKE

According to science it doesn't matter whether they are natural or man made, nothing in this world is identical.

Intensive Workout

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor Simon Oakland is getting an intensive workout in dramatizations of the Russian classic, "The Brothers Karamazov." A stage version of the novel entitled "The Trial of Dmitri Karamazov" is coming into an off-Broadway theater with Oakland cast in the title role. He is also set to play in MGM's movie version—but as one of the prosecuting attorneys.

Woodstock No. 3 Vols Re-elect Cramer President

The re-election of H. Hudson Cramer Jr. as president and the formulation of plans to complete the new firehouse were highlights of the annual meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 held at the Lake Hill service station this week.

It was reported a record attendance of 26 members were present at the meeting of the organization which furnishes fire protection to the communities of Willow, Lake Hill, and Shady, in the Town of Woodstock.

Officers elected to serve with President Cramer were: Robert Bartlett, vice-president; John Melia, secretary; Roy Van Wagner, treasurer; the Rev. Clarence Murray, chaplain; James Nancarrow, captain; Otto Sonnenberg, first lieutenant; Egon Schreiner, second lieutenant; Fred Freitag, executive committee for three years; Egon Schreiner and Robert Bartlett, delegates to departmental council.

Plans were made to continue work on the new firehouse each weekend, with doors and windows to be installed in order to close in the building and complete the interior.

A report of the finance committee showed the new drive for funds was meeting with success. Funds are necessary to carry on the construction work on the firehouse and donations are being solicited from any persons. Donations may be sent to the Woodstock Fire Company 3 at the Lake Hill service station.

PICKETS AT WARD'S—These five pickets started walking in front of the local Montgomery Ward store, North Front Street yesterday and resumed again in this morning's near zero temperature, displaying placards charging the firm refuses to bargain in good faith with the Retail Clerks Union, Local 169, AFL-CIO, in Chicago. From left are Eugene Legg, Kingston; Vincent Legg, Saugerties; Danny Fuchs, union organizer for Ulster and Dutchess counties; Robert Small, Kingston, and Fred Smith,

Saugerties. None are employed at the local Ward store. Fred Ammond, international vice president of the union said picketing is spreading over the nation after a six-month attempt to bargain for discontinuance of the wage policy based on the merit system, a 40-hour, five-day week, a 10-cent-an-hour across the board hourly increase with a one half of one per cent increase for jobs which pay a commission on sales. ## Beef Truck Driver Has Narrow Escape Going Over Bank

The driver of a Kingston Beef Company truck narrowly escaped serious injury Thursday afternoon when his vehicle skidded over a steep embankment and landed against a tree, after overturning several times.

Isidore Lippman, 44, of 161 Hasbrouck Avenue said he felt his truck start to skid on the slippery DeWitt Lake Road near Eddyville, about 4:30 p. m. but kept control until it struck an object which sent it over the embankment.

He told Peter Peterson and Fred Brinkman, Ulster County deputy sheriffs that it took him about 10 minutes to get out of the 1957 panel truck, which rolled over several times during the descent.

This morning he told a reporter, "I have a few scratches and my back aches. I'm not working today."

Lippman, who is the father of two children, said he hitchhiked to the nearest phone after the mishap and called the beef concern at 10-20 Meadow Street, operated by George Farber and Max Mones.

Arrangements were made for a tow truck to pull the damaged vehicle back on the highway this morning.

Bills Introduced In Legislature

ALBANY (U.S.A.)—A three-bill package that would tighten restrictions on unauthorized eavesdropping is before the Legislature.

One measure would prohibit use in criminal cases of evidence obtained from wiretaps made without court order. Such evidence now is barred in civil cases.

The provisions applying to interception and recording of telephone and telegraph communications would be extended to cover secret microphones.

Evidence obtained through eavesdropping without court order would be admissible only in disciplinary actions by state or local governments against their own officers or employees, and in criminal cases involving eavesdropping itself.

Cites Urgent Need—Assemblyman Anthony P. Savarese Jr. (R-Queens), committee chairman, said the need for legislation was "pointed up" by repercussions from the Joseph (Socks) Lanza parole scandal and the "bugging" of the office of a union that struck the New York subway recently.

Three other bills introduced yesterday, at the request of Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, would give him greater power to move against fly-by-night businessmen who bilk the buying public.

One bill is aimed at unscrupulous promoters who evade New York laws and courts by shifting operations to other states. The measure would empower the attorney general to serve legal papers on the secretary of state, who by law is designated as agent for out-of-state firms.

A second bill would allow the attorney general to subpoena the books and records of unincorporated firms and individuals engaging in fraudulent practices under trade names. He has this power over incorporated firms.

The third bill would give Lefkowitz the right to initiate action to stop individuals and unincorporated companies from doing business.

Other Bills—Also among the hundred or more measures introduced yesterday was one that would save owners of suburban vehicles $8 to $10 a year in registration fees by removing such vehicles from the commercial category. It was filed by Sen. William S. Hulse and Assemblyman Anthony Barbiero, Nassau County Republicans.

Measures that would bar authorities from compelling newspaper editors and their reporters to disclose sources of information were filed by three lawmakers. Sen. Thomas J. Cuife and Assemblyman Frank Compagno, Brooklyn Democrats, sponsored one, and Sen. Irwin Pakula, Forest Hills Republican, another.

The bills were prompted by a recent court case in which Marie Torre, New York Herald Tribune television writer, was ordered to contempt. She refused to give the source of a story involved in a lawsuit between the Columbia Broadcasting System and singer Judy Garland.

Rules on Plane Blast—WASHINGTON (U.S.A.)—The Civil Aeronautics Board says a California man who insured himself for $125,000 set off a dynamite blast that hurled him to death from an airliner over the Mojave Desert last summer.

Killed in the explosion was Saul F. Binstock, 62-year-old retired jeweler from North Hollywood, Calif.

The CAB, in a report issued yesterday, concluded that Binstock "intentionally detonated" a blasting cap of dynamite in the rest room of a Western Air Lines Con-voir bound from Las Vegas, Nev., to Los Angeles last July 25.

The board also said Binstock was "apparently intent on suicide."

None of the other 11 adults of the one child flying with a crew of three in the twin-engine plane was injured. Capt. Milton L. Shirk brought the ship down safely at Victorville, Calif., shortly after the explosion.

Freeman Election—Following the annual meeting of the stockholders of The Freeman Publishing Company held at 10 o'clock today at the main office, Freeman Square, the board of directors met and elected the following officers for the coming year: Lucia de L. Klock, president; Frederick Hoffman, vice president; Harry duBois Frey, secretary and treasurer. Inspectors of election were Harry S. Hutton and Milfred J. Buddenhagen.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (U.S.A.)—Steels, aircraft and rails lost ground as the stock market declined in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Key issues were off from fractions to a point or so.

It was a continuation of a downward move which followed President Eisenhower's State of the Union message yesterday. Market analysts felt the economic aspects of the speech had been well discounted early in the week.

The successful firing of the Atlas missile gave its maker, General Dynamics, a brief spurt of about a point. It lost this quickly and then fluctuated narrowly, showing fractional gains or losses.

Losses of around a point were taken by United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft and Chrysler while Youngstown Sheet lost more than a point.

Phillips Petroleum had a temporary spurt of a point and North American Aviation a fraction on a report that the firms were planning to form a company to specialize in rocket power. Both stocks settled to small fractional gains.

Others included Illinois Central, Gulf Oil, Union Carbide, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, General Motors, Kennecott and American Smelting.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 70 cents to $157.70 with the industrials down 90 cents, the rails down $1.10 and the utilities unchanged.

Corporate bonds eased in quiet trading.

Rural Apathy

—bringing the question to a decision.

"If they don't want it, it might be better for us to turn it down," one of the members remarked.

It is felt that the growing impatience of the Kingston Board of Education should be stressed to rural trustees.

It was indicated also that more and more rural students may be refused admission to the Kingston school system as the local school population increases. Some requests from rural school districts for admission of students have already been denied. There will be a tightening of this policy.

Cites Patience

One member of the board pointed out that the consolidation issue had almost reached a vote in December but that the rug was pulled out from under it. He said the Kingston board had been unusually patient.

It was suggested by a member of the board that the rural areas "be being swallowed up." He deplored their "awful" lack of interest in the question of consolidation and the confusion about it in outlying sections.

The 'Package' Plan

A lengthy discussion was held regarding the "package" school construction program proposed for the city.

This embraces a proposed elementary school in the Hasbrouck Park area, additions to Schools 5 and 6, elimination of Schools 3 and 4 and renovations and additions to the auditorium and adjacent areas in Kingston High School.

Consultations are in progress with principals of Schools 5 and 6 to ascertain what type of additions might best meet the needs in each case.

Such additions call, in general, for a play-assembly room, a kitchen-canteen, possibly a teacher's room and a library—with some variations in each case.

There is some interest at School 6 in a principal's office and a couple of rooms for instrumental music.

The board frowns on the addition of classrooms to either School 5 or School 6, however. It feels that a school in the Hasbrouck Park area would meet the need for new classrooms in that area. Some of the student body at School 5, for instance, could be transferred to the proposed new elementary school.

Some members of the board felt that the proposals might be brought successfully to a vote by next fall, provided the reaction of the Kingston Parent-Teacher Council was favorable.

A representative of the Council, Kerin O'Neil, who was present at the meeting said that if the board could show the public a complete building plan covering the next five years or so, indicating anticipated population changes and how the schools would meet those changes, it would increase public understanding of the building program.

He said that in his opinion the plan should offer some degree of relief to each school in the public school system.

Audit Report Given

Robert O'Reilly, chairman of the finance committee, submitted the annual audit of the books of the Kingston school system, the work of Alfred D. Ronder and Company, certified public accountants.

The detailed audit found everything in order. This was the second annual audit of the books by an independent auditing firm.

Ronder stated in general comments that "our examination of the minutes of the board meetings for the year under review discloses the fact that the board has given careful consideration to all problems affecting the school system of the city of Kingston."

Clearing Property

George Schneider, chairman of the building committee, reported that the newly-acquired O'Reilly property back of the Myron J. Michael School was being cleared off and would offer space of considerable area, even "ample room" for a football practice field when it was leveled off.

It was suggested that there might also be enough room for a couple of tennis courts.

The board accepted the resignations of Mrs. Nancy Prindle and Mrs. Evelyn Jennings, elementary school teachers, with regret. Mrs. Prindle is moving to New Jersey and Mrs. Jennings is leaving for maternity.

Garrett B. Vandemark was appointed as a teacher to replace Mrs. Jennings, salary $4,050. He

Entire Caracas Cabinet Resigns

CARACAS, Venezuela (U.S.A.)—The entire cabinet resigned at midnight last night to give President Marcos Perez Jimenez a free hand to deal with the political crisis that followed the New Year's Day military uprising. There were rumors a military junta had been formed.

Creation of a junta probably would mean military officers would supersede Perez Jimenez as the executive power. Another rumor said he would continue in power with an all-military cabinet.

Radios Are Quiet

At 9 a. m. EST the only official news available was a bare mention that the cabinet had resigned. The news was carried in front page announcements in two morning newspapers. The radio stations made no mention of the developments.

President Perez Jimenez was said to be conferring with military officers as late as 4:30 a. m. but no one in authority would discuss the subject of the conference.

Except for soldiers at some strategic points and the presence of some armored cars and a tank in front of the presidential palace there was no unusual activity in the city this morning.

Despite the lack of official news it was apparent that a crisis was at hand. The radio stations broadcast an announcement in mid-morning that the President had canceled a ceremony scheduled for 11 a. m. He was to have inaugurated a new military school at that hour.

The resignation followed a cabinet meeting for almost an hour late yesterday at the president's palace. The move, which had been expected, was interpreted as an effort to prevent a repetition of the one-day revolt Jan. 1 by the air force and some army units.

Caracas has been calm since the revolt.

The short-lived New Year's Day revolt was the first major challenge to Perez Jimenez' military-backed dictatorship since army leaders installed him as provisional president Dec. 3, 1952. A constituent assembly named him president for a five-year term four months later, and last Dec. 15, after a plebiscite in which he was the only candidate, he won another five-year term.

U. S. Launches

The tall, silvery Atlas was rolled away from its working tower shortly after 8 a. m.

For a while, a weak sun poking through the clouds sent rays glancing off the nose cone of the 100-ton weapon as it stood pointed straight skyward. Then a haze enveloped the base and the Atlas was just barely visible to watchers from the beaches.

Calls Test Success

About 10 a. m. the red ball that signifies an imminent shoot was lowered and it appeared that a "hold" had been called in the countdown toward the zero hour, originally set for 10 o'clock.

Forty eight minutes later newsmen and photographers on the beach were caught by surprise when the Atlas blasted off with the red ball down. It was the first time such a sneak shot had ever been tried.

In Washington, the Pentagon reported the test came off "successfully."

Reaction Is Cold

which might wreck the negotiations.

The note as delivered yesterday was in Russian. Officials said a preliminary translation indicated it followed the same lines as a Bulgarian note to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. A British spokesman in London said the message to Macmillan "broke no new ground."

By JULIUS LUDWIG
The Dog at the Ferry

It was New Year's Eve, and Fred and I waited at the Newburgh Ferry with a delivery of "furniture."

Fog lay thick over the river, and not a boat was moving. Suddenly my attention was caught by a sharp bark. A dog was running about on dog dock—with a gay red ribbon on his collar and his license held in place by a tiny padlock. Every time a ferry worker appeared the dog ran to meet him, and invariably received a pat on the head or a few friendly words.

"The little scene intrigued me. 'Whose dog is it?' I asked a bystander. 'Oh,' he replied, 'he belongs to all the men on the ferry. Been here three or four years now. They all chip together to buy his license and his food. Friendly little fellow, isn't he?'

The scene stayed with me all the way back to Accord and left a warm feeling in the region of my heart. And speaking of Accord, may I make a suggestion? If you need furniture now or at any time in the future, why not pay a visit to the Accord Furniture & TV Mart on Route 209 in Accord (just a short drive from Kingston), and browse through the displays of name brand furniture, lamps, rugs, mirrors and pictures. All at guaranteed lowest prices. Free delivery.

Hours are 9 to 5:30 on weekdays and on Sundays it's "open house" from 2 to 5. Evenings by appointment—call Kerhonkson 2711.

Shoe on the Other Foot

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — Motorcyclist Carl Lee Winfree, 25, waved Highway Patrolman Ransom Smith to the side of the highway. "I had to drive 75 miles an hour to catch you," Winfree admonished Smith, explaining that he had watched a television program in which the Highway Patrol urged the public to cooperate in observing the law. Smith told Winfree to leave speed clocking up to the patrol. About a month later, Smith arrested a motorcyclist riding with his feet on the handlebars. It was Winfree, who was fined $10 and costs for reckless driving.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

I, RACHEL MARCH COST

This is the fascinating story of the life of Rachel, greatest actress of her times. Of her meteoric rise from poor little daughter of a Jewish peddler, performing with her sister on the streets of Paris to the heady pinnacle of leading tragedienne at the famous Theatre Francaise.

The story is told in autobiographic style—it is really two stories. Rachel and the theatre, and Rachel and her turbulent private life.

Of all the loves of her life, none exceeded hers for the theatre. When as a tiny, wispy child of about ten, she got her first glimpse of an actor's art as portrayed by Samson, who was to be her lifetime idol, mentor, tutor and friend, she dedicated herself to his great art with unlagging zeal.

Somehow managing to get herself accepted by a small school of the theatre on the Left Bank she was discovered by Samson when she was playing a small part at the Gymnase. Recognizing her unusual talent, he offered to tutor her, and so, under Samson's guidance, she acquired at once a great improvement in her sadly neglected education and hours of release from the disorder of her home and the quarrels of her noisy, untidy family.

She was, however, to be dominated by her tyrannical father until the night of her twenty-first birthday, when, after a furious quarrel, she walked out of her home and took up her residence in a hotel, taking her faithful maid, Rose, with her. By that time she was the unquestioned queen of the theatrical world as well as the accepted darling of the fashionable world of the Faubourg St. Germaine. Entertained, fêted, courted, her life seemed like a fairytale. The dark-eyed little waif of the Paris gutters had developed into a raving beauty. Her raven black hair, burning eyes, alabaster skin, classic features and slim, graceful figure added up to a woman of irresistible charm. Admirers showered her with flowers, costly gifts and adulation.

But foremost with her was her quest for perfection in her art. There were misunderstandings and recriminations with Samson, which tore her apart. There was the price she was forced to pay to the libertine, Dr. Veron, who had absolute control of the destiny of the Theatre Francaise. There was the Revolution which dethroned Louis Philippe and closed her beloved theatre and Rachel's ingenious device which reopened it. All part of the hectic life of a popular artist.

It was inevitable that this young, impetuous girl should fall in love with at least one of the many who pursued her. The first was Count Walewski, natural son of Napoleon. He established her in a beautiful home. Even offered to marry her but she refused. Even after their son was born she postponed marriage until, tired of waiting, he married someone else and had the bad taste to let her learn of it through the press. After that she had a rebound affair with the worthless gambler, Bertrand. After their son was born she sent the father packing. There were brief, stormy affairs with Napoleon III and others. Only once was she formally engaged—never married. Her art had to come first.

Having attained fame, Rachel's life was to be a battle to maintain her high position. The wear and tear of her profession; battles with her incredible family; battles with the powers which controlled the theatre. High successes. Flat failures. Scandals breaking just when she most needed the support of friends. All these and more took their toll of her frail strength, but her indomitable spirit made her fight on.

Like a highly colored kaleidoscope, personages and events of her short life flash by. Among her adoring friends were all of the prominent artists of her time, Chopin; Dumas (Pere et Fils); Victor Hugo; Offenbach; Balzac; George Sand; Liszt; Flaubert and Prince Napoleon (Plon-Plon) among many others. Her triumphs in London and St. Petersburg were magnificent, as were her tours through the French Provinces. She took the hardships of travel lightly as well she might, since the first 10 years of her life were spent crossing the Alps from Germany into Paris on foot or in her father's cart.

The most pathetic picture in the book is the description of the magnificent farewell performance of Figaro by the mad actor, Montrose, played to a packed house, while a doctor waited in the wings to take him to an institution for the insane.

There is a lot of artistic philosophy, lit by such tales as that of the cat that stopped the show by slowly crossing the stage during a performance of Judith (which was going badly anyway) arching its back, then stopping, exact center, facing the audience and yawling, full voice, Rachel was not amused.

In 1854 Rachel's popularity suffered complete eclipse. A new, young actress, Ristori, appeared at the Italian Opera House and Paris audiences went wild over her. Rachel played to a few empty houses and then, her health failing, she was persuaded by her brother, Raphael, to go to America. Here was initial success followed by dismal failure. Americans soon bored with classical drama, plus an unknown language in spite of their great admiration for a great actress. Soon Rachel's weakness became alarming. She returned to France and in 1857 at age thirty-seven, in a beautiful mountainside retreat, attended by her devoted Rose and her efficient sister, Sarah, Rachel passed away.

All Paris deeply mourned her passing. The funeral cortege was seemingly endless. For hours a crowd of mourners stood silently in the rain at the Pere Lachaise cemetery. Among them at last slipped the silent figure of Samson. He had written—and torn up—his funeral oration. But he could not stay away. Her estranged, but still faithful friend was there after all the others had gone.

B'nai B'rith Women Schedule Meetings

B'nai B'rith Women's Chapter has announced that their next regular meeting will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 22, at the Jewish Community Center, 265 Wall Street, at 8:30 p. m.

The program for the evening will include a play by Coach House Players. Mrs. Joan Hansen, head of the worship for this season, reports that the play, "The Pot Boiling" is the production currently being presented to various groups by its members.

The play is described as a broad farce, depicting a play within a play. The presentation is under the direction of Fran Matteson. The cast includes Victor Fletcher, Roy Wulff, Raymond Caddy, Linda Motter, Edward Finn, Harriette Engelen, Scott Foster and Dennis Brady.

It has been reported by the president and program chairman for the B'nai B'rith Women, that the two Christmas parties with which the organization was connected were successful. At the Christmas party given at the Infirmary, the B'nai B'rith women purchased, wrapped and presented gifts to all 96 patients.

Each gift was an individual request by each patient. This is the first time a large-scale gift presentation was given individual attention. The ladies who worked on this project were the Mmes. Charles Warshaw, Richard Kalish, Herbert Powell, Harold Newman and Sam Gally.

On Sunday, Dec. 22, the Mmes. Harry Spiegel and Sam Mann assisted in the hanging of the greens at the TB Hospital.

On Monday evening, Dec. 30, a party was held at the TB Hospital. Coordinator for this project was Mrs. Harold Shorr.

Women who prepared the sandwiches were the Mmes. Harry Spiegel, William Zwick, and Harvey Marcus. Cookies were baked and donated by other members of the B'nai B'rith Women's Chapter.

The committee serving refreshments to the patients included the Mmes. Richard Kalish, Sam Kaplan, Arnold Pinsly, Bruce Wall, Herman Svirsky, and the Misses Irene Kaplan, Ruby Markson and Carol Spiegel.

Mrs. Harold Shorr sang several selections for the occasion.

The Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary voted to join the Hospital Association of New York State at its regular meeting Wednesday, Jan. 8. The meeting was held in the nurses dining room at the hospital, and Mrs. Edward Dolan, president of the Auxiliary, greeted the members present.

Routine reports from the sales cart, desk volunteers and baby photo service were given by the Mmes. Howard Fox, George Beichert, Donald Luce, William Teegan and Robert Stenson. A report was also made on the tea dance given by the Auxiliary on New Year's Day at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Sister M. Berence, administrator of the hospital, praised the work of the committee who decorated the hospital for Christmas. This committee included Mrs. Vincent Guido, chairman and the Mmes. William Lane, Robert Edze and Robert Powers. Sister Berence also thanked the Auxiliary members for their volunteer work at the hospital during the past year.

At the social hour which followed the meeting the Mmes. George Harte, Henry Kwasnowski, Richard VanBramer and Howard Fox were the hostesses.

Bookstein Rebukes Monaghan in Probe

ALBANY — A State Supreme Court justice said today that the New York harness racing commissioner was being "oppressive" in an investigation of Saratoga Raceway.

Justice Isadore Bookstein threw out, as "an abuse of power," a subpoena in which Commissioner George P. Monaghan had directed the harness track to transport all its records to the commission office in New York City.

Monaghan said publicly when the probe was launched that he was seeking to determine how Frank L. Wiswall, Raceway president, had acquired his original stock in the track. In the court proceeding, the commissioner said he was making "a routine inquiry" of track operations.

Wiswall is an official of the U. S. Trotting Assn., which has been a severe critic of Monaghan's policies as commissioner. Monaghan, in turn, has charged that the USTA wants to control harness racing in New York.

The Raceway said in fighting the subpoena that its records were available for inspection by Monaghan's agents at track offices.

Church Aids Emigrants

LEAVING BRIDGE CLUB

Dear Mrs. Post: Several months ago my husband and I were invited to join a bridge club. We had substituted at this club on two occasions and thought the group very congenial and so when one of the couples moved to another city and my husband and I were asked to join permanently, we were delighted to do so. However after playing with them regularly, we find we really do not enjoy these evenings as much as we thought we would and somehow feel out of place. We would like to drop out. Can you suggest a tactful exit for us?

Answer: Find something, a series of lectures for instance that you can say your husband and you very much want to go to and which will be on the same evening the bridge club meets.

Keeping Engagement Secret

Dear Mrs. Post: Last week my boy friend surprised me by giving me an engagement ring. It was a lot sooner than I had expected to get it. We cannot be married until next year and I would rather have my parents wait for awhile to announce the engagement in the newspapers. Does this mean that I could not wear my ring before they make the announcement?

Answer: If you wear your engagement ring it will certainly announce to all those who see it that you are engaged.

A Secretary's

"How Do You Do?" Dear Mrs. Post: Occasionally my boss will introduce me to a business acquaintance who comes into the office. Should I shake hands upon being introduced, or do I just say "How do you do, Mr. Jones?"

Answer: You simply say "How do you do, Mr. Jones?" with a smile. You of course should be ready to shake hands if he starts to extend his.

On what occasion does a gentleman lift his hat or remove it? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-15, "Manners in Public," answers this and many questions about manner in public. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. ## Business Group Petitions Town For Traffic Light

At the annual meeting of the Albany Avenue Business Men's Association Wednesday evening at Cyprus Inn, action was taken to petition the town board of the Town of Ulster for a traffic light at the intersection of Route 9W and Legg's Mills Road, Lake Katrine.

At the annual election Ted Musialkiewicz was re-elected president, Arthur Royal was elected vice-president, Fred Reese was named secretary and Michael Marchuk was designated recording secretary.

Stanley Chase was re-elected director and George Cosenza was elected a director.

The association voted to continue advertising the area and also to commence plans for the merchants mid-summer good will promotion. Marchuk and Royael were appointed co-chairmen and plans are now under way to contact all merchants in the area to participate and to take an active part in this program.

It was decided to have a dinner meeting in February for all members. A guest speaker will be present and all members are urged by the officers to attend. The committee in charge of that meeting will be Sherwood Davis, David Gruber, Arthur Royael and David Van Wagenen. The time and place will be announced.

Harriman Rules Out Road in His Name

ALBANY (AP) — Gov. Harriman will decline the honor if anyone tries to name a highway after him.

Several suggestions of "Harriman Highway" have come in in a contest to name a freeway that will stretch from Binghamton to Alexandria Bay, the Commerce Department said yesterday, but the governor wants no part of the idea.

The department said about 1,500 entries a day are pouring into the state Capitol in the contest to name the four-lane freeway, now known as the Penn-Can Highway or Federal Interstate Highway 505.

In 1955, Harriman vetoed a GOP bill that would have included the name of his predecessor, Republican Thomas E. Dewey, in the title of the State Thruway.

He remarked at the time that it was "unsuitable" to name a highway after any living person.

Appeals Body Upholds Parking Meter Charge

ALBANY (AP) — A motorist must drop a coin in a parking meter immediately upon parking — regardless of whether he has change — the state's highest court maintains.

A unanimous decision of the Court of Appeals yesterday upheld the conviction of Joseph Caponetto, who contended that he did not have a nickel in change when he parked his car at a meter in Hartsdale, Westchester County, last Feb. 2.

Caponetto said he went into a candy store to get change and returned "in less than a minute" to find a policeman writing out a ticket.

Caponetto was convicted of the $2 violation after a trial in the court of special sessions of the County of Greenburgh. The conviction was affirmed by the Westchester County court.

GE Lab Founder Dies

SCHENECTADY (AP) — One of the leaders of modern industrial research died in a hospital last night.

Dr. Willis R. Whitney suffered a heart attack last Friday. He was 89 years old.

Whitney founded the General Electric Co. research laboratory here in 1900 and served as its director for 32 years. He was a vice president of GE at the time of his retirement and had continued as an honorary vice president.

Under his direction GE scientists made many discoveries fundamental in the development of radio, radar, television, incandescent lighting, X-rays and turbine power.

Whitney was born in Jamestown, N. Y., and was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1890.

The Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Fear of Inherited 'Badness' Makes Parent Feel Helpless

Mrs. K. writes, "If one of our children lies or does something wrong, my husband says it's my 'bad blood' in them. He is reminding me that my father died of alcoholism. God knows I don't need reminding. His drunkenness was my girlhood's nightmare. I tell my husband that I can't stand hearing that the children have inherited my father's weakness, but he goes right on."

I have a message for Mrs. K. It's from Dr. George S. Stevenson, noted psychiatrist and national consultant to the National Association for Mental Health. It's this:

"While there is a suspicion among some scientists that there is a predisposition to alcoholism, the bulk of evidence suggests that it is not inherited."

Mr. K. may not stop accusing his wife of poisoning their children's blood because the accusation is unreasonable.

Sometimes a person's need to make us feel helpless is stronger than his reason. If we disprove the charge that we have transmitted a bad inheritance to our children, he'll just locate another way to make us feel helplessly victimized by forces beyond our control.

Psychiatrists would say we were "projecting" the helplessness we felt toward our father on to our children.

Thus, Mrs. K.'s real problem may not be her husband's unreasonable prophesy of more suffering ahead; it may be her own expectation of it.

(All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

So Mrs. K.'s answer may not be to correct her accuser but to correct her response to his accusation.

To do this she may need the kind of help her local Family Service Association can make available to her.

If we have had an alcoholic parent, we can be easily infected by his sense of helplessness. Without being at all conscious of what we're doing, we can allow our long, painful experience with his uncontrollable behavior to distort our response to children's.

If Bobby tells a lie or Mary neglects chores for movie magazines, we'll bring to their irresponsibility all the discouragement aroused by their grandfather's. We'll imagine we're as powerless to help Bobby learn to trust the truth as we were to stop our father's drinking. In Mary's carelessness we'll see his fatal submission to impulses.

Psychiatrists would say we were "projecting" the helplessness we felt toward our father on to our children.

Thus, Mrs. K.'s real problem may not be her husband's unreasonable prophesy of more

Hollywood News, Views

By ROB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Three generations of Lewises are working on Jerry's latest movie, but one is due for retirement.

It was quite a family scene on the set of "Rock-A-Bye-Baby" over at Paramount. Frank Tashlin was directing a shot in which young Gary Lewis sings a song and dances over a hillside of spring flowers.

Help From Sidelines

But Frank had some help on the sidelines. Also aiding in the direction was the producer of the picture, Jerry Lewis, who finds time to act in it, too. Then there was his lovely wife, Patty, who brought along another son, Ronnie. Completing the family picture was Gary's grandfather, youthful-looking vaudeville veteran Danny Lewis, who also has a part in the movie.

The family group gathered in the Paramount commissary for lunch and discussed 12-year-old Gary's budding career, which is about to be nipped.

"This kid has only about 200 tons of talent," said proud papa Jerry. "It's just too bad it's going to be hidden until he grows up."

How's that?

"This will be Gary's fargwell appearance until he graduates from college," Jerry said. I asked Gary how he felt about that.

Jerry's Decision Firm

"I'll change his mind," the boy said, out of his father's hearing. He'll have some power! I'm campaigning to do, because Jerry seems pretty firm in his decision. "I hate child actors," he said. "I mean the professional kind of child actor. The youngsters who are great as actors and who are really liked are the ones who do things naturally, who act without being actors. Gary is like that. But the trouble with most child actors is that they are pushed into acting by an ambitious parent. The kids become phony; they're subjected to all kinds of attention which they shouldn't have at their age. And they usually end up unhappy in their later lives."

Will Have Education

"Gary doesn't have to act. He's going to have the advantage of the education I didn't have. I had to quit in the second grade of high school, not because I needed the money but because I couldn't be happy unless I was in show business."

"I've lived to regret it. I've had to adjust to situations I could have coped with more easily if I had gone on in school."

So far Gary has appeared three times with his pa. He did the "Sonny Boy" routine on Jerry's TV show and appeared for a week when the comic played Detroit.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — The Army is supposed to build men. It did even better by Cy Leslie, a big ex-servant in the Signal Corps. It gave him the initial idea that led to a multimillion-dollar-a-year business.

Cy, who is 35 and has the height and the heft of a professional football tackle, today is known as "The King of the Kiddie Records." Last month his firm pressed its 100 millionth record for children.

Owes Lot to Army

"Looking back, I guess I owe a lot to the Army," he said. At the time—during the second World War—Leslie didn't figure, however, the Army was doing him much of a favor by sending him to such faraway places as New Guinea and the Philippines. He was lonely, as all soldiers are.

Then, one day, he got a greeting card from his mother, back in Brooklyn. Gazing at the greeting card, Leslie mused:

"Boy, if this thing could only talk!"

If only a greeting card could talk. Cy brooded over the thought. Well, why couldn't a greeting card carry a vocal message? He decided it could.

Released from the Army in 1946 Leslie gobbled his savings on creating a line of recorded two-bit greeting cards.

"I had only $1,100—and I put every penny into it," Cy recalled. "We wrote our own lyrics and music. I slept on the desk at night because I was too tired to go home. My mother even helped by trimming the paper-based records with her scissors."

Caught on Fast

"The cards caught on fast. The first year we took in $25,000, the second year $300,000. Then we couldn't give them away. The cards were a fad, and the fad was over."

Cy then decided to take an even bigger gamble—to enter the kiddie record field in competition with the major companies. He decided the only way he could win was to put out a 25-cent product and aim for a new mass field through supermarkets, toy stores, and mail order houses.

"I picked up a number of then unknown singers and used them to make children's records," he recalled. "Later on some of them, Kay Armen, Clark Dennis and the Mariners, went on to fame in the adult music field."

No 'Scare' Endings

And Cy, who now has three children of his own, made one other major decision—that none of his musical versions of classic fairy tales and fables would have frightening endings.

"We'd rather take a few liberties with the story than scare a child," he said. "In our record of Little Red Riding Hood, the bad wolf is caught and tied up—but he isn't axed. We don't want to give kids nightmares."

Leslie's Cricket label line for tots succeeded so phenomenally that now he has begun a new line of low-priced albums for the adult market, featuring such artists as Eddie Condon, Sammy Davis, Jack Carson, and Dorothy Lamour.

One of his albums consists of music to fight bulls. It is called "Fury of the Matador." One of his present goals: to get Margaret Truman to record an album entitled, "Songs My Father Taught Me."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

From time to time discussions come up that years ago folks did not live long. According to the items I find, if a child could survive infancy and its diseases he or she had a chance to go on living its full span. The Kingston Argus, of Wednesday, April 24, 1889 tells about Mrs. Elisha Eighmey of Shandaken who died at her residence near the railroad in the 97th year of age. She was a long resident there and had many friends.

The above paper made mention through its column about the coming then Centennial of Washington's Inauguration. The West Shore Railroad, for instance, had issued a souvenir booklet, "handsomely printed and a convenient guide of the city of New York, telling people how to get there, where to stop and what to see."

The Mary Powell was making preparations also for the Centennial celebration in New York on "Monday next" for a round trip excursion for two dollars. The number of tickets to be sold would be strictly limited to 800. The New York Central and West Shore Railroad were preparing for the Washington Jubilee with excursion tickets at reduced rates. These tickets were to be sold from April 27 to May 1 inclusive, for trains to arrive in New York before noon of May 1. It seems the rate was to be for these special trains, $1.75 except on the "Chicago Limited" and Special Limited trains. The steamer, Mary Powell, had been accorded the honor of leading the Naval Parade of the approaching inaugural centennial celebration in New York, that part of the naval parade which fell to the merchant marine.

Following from same paper: "Norman Eltinge died at his home, 109 Fifth Avenue, Mount Vernon, on Saturday, of paralysis of the heart. He suffered a stroke some two years before that from which he partly recovered. He was born in New Paltz, Ulster County, N. Y. In 1821, at the age of 18 entered West Point as a cadet, and was graduated in 1843 in a class with General Grant and General Williams. He served in the Mexican war. At its close he resigned and for a number of years lived quietly at Kingston and Poughkeepsie. During the War of the Rebellion, though unable to go to the front on account of ill-health, he drilled several regiments for service. In 1869, under President Grant's Administration, he was appointed to a position in the Custom House in New York and served 20 years. He married Anna M. Palmer, of Ulster county, and had two daughters. His wife and one daughter survive him. He has two brothers living, Dr. Edgar Eltinge, of Brooklyn, formerly of Kingston, and Captain Oscar Eltinge, of the 3rd United States Cavalry, who served through the war."

Item from same newspaper from Personals: "Gen. Geo. H. Sharpe will deliver the address at the Decoration Day observances in Ellenville on May 30. The first Republican named for federal office in Ulster County is Walter N. Gill, who on Tuesday, was nominated by President Harrison to be Post Master at Rondout, in place of Richard Mooney, whose resignation has been in Washington for about three weeks."

Dr. Angstrom Is Attending Parley For Veterinarians

Dr. Clement I. Angstrom, 163 Hurley Avenue, is attending the 50th annual mid-winter veterinary conference of the New York State Veterinary College at Cornell University, Ithaca. This year the conference is being held at the new 19-building veterinary college.

This convention enables veterinarians to keep up-to-date with new developments in treatment procedures, control and prevention of diseases of domestic animals, as well as public health problems that insure human and animal well being. The meeting has an all time attendance record of around 600 doctors interested in the welfare of the livestock industry.

A wide field of veterinary practice activities is being discussed by approximately 40 speakers. Subjects cover a new poultry disease in New York State, foot and mouth disease, bovine mastitis, anesthesia of large and small animals, canine distemper and hepatitis, heart disease of animals and various other equally pertinent subjects too numerous to mention.

Axelrod Due in '58

NEW YORK (AP) — Playwright George Axelrod feels sure his next dramatic offering will arrive on Broadway this year. The reason: Axelrod says three is his lucky production number. His first comedy hit "The Seven Year Itch" reached the boards in 1952, and his second, "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?" in 1955. The writer has not yet given a title to the script upon which he is currently at work. It deals, he says briefly, with a topic of universal interest.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — "To be a success in show business," said Dinah Shore, "you don't have to be beautiful. You don't have to be smart—or even talented. But you've sure got to be healthy."

Because Miss Shore—who is beautiful, smart, talented and healthy—also is honest, she emphasized that she was quoting from the unpublished remarks of Esther Williams.

Two Gotham Shows

At least once a year Miss Shore comes to New York to do a show or two. This season, happily, it will be two from New York via NBC-TV this Sunday and next (at 9 p. m.). On Sunday evening her guests will be three Broadway stars—Art Carney, Julie Wilson and Chita Rivera. A week from Sunday her guests will be Ethel Merman, Cyril Ritchard, Andy Griffith and Gwen Verdon.

Whenever Miss Shore makes a pilgrimage to New York, I make a pilgrimage to see Miss Shore as president of the Dinah Shore fan club

Night for the Stars

Chevrolets Seek Fifth Against Stewart Field

As the television drama unfolds from the Minnesota National Guard in Minneapolis during the national All Star tournament, you'll be hearing the words "Petersen points" again and again.

The Petersen point system of scoring is unique in bowling. It was devised several years ago by Pete Petersen of Chicago, who conducts the famous Petersen Classic, the most lucrative competition in bowling.

The Petersen system awards one point for each game won in match competition, a half-point for a tie, a point to the player who loses a match but knocks down more pins than his opponent and, most importantly, a point for each 50 pins knocked down.

The point-for-50 pins is the heart of the Petersen system. It is designed to reward the beginner for pins knocked down which, to be sure, is the elementary objective of the sport of tenpins.

It is a popular method but not universally accepted. Purists attack it as a gimmick. They point out that if a baseball team wins a game by 21-0 it doesn't count any more in the standings than a 1-0 squeaker. A large number of bowlers buy that proposition, but we think the Petersen system is sound. No matter what happens a bowler is still rated and recognized for the number of pins he can knock down, over a match, over a season or over a career.

Splits and Misses:

Al Kieffer phoned in the story about Ad Jones, the bowling mink man, getting a parking ticket in Ellenville while campaigning for the March of Dimes. . . . Ad, meanwhile, insists on reminding everybody about the horrendous 405 that the Flatbush flier achieved in Wednesday night's session of the Bowlero Major. . . . It's time to remember tournament deadlines. . . . The American Bowling Congress tournament is being held at Syracuse this year, with entries closing on Feb. 11. A 72-day marathon, the ABC will run from March 29 to June 8. A total of 5200 teams can be accommodated during that stretch at the Onondaga County War Memorial. . . . The New York State men's tournament is ticketed for Niagara Falls. Entries close Feb. 8 for the state tourney. The women's state tourney will be held in Schenectady starting March 14, with entries closing Jan. 25.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Sis Balash sounds like one of the top new names of the season in local bowling ranks. . . . Women's International Bowling Congress (WIBC) boasting 860,000 members has announced plans for a new national headquarters at Columbus, Ohio. . . . The 1957-58 tenpin season in Kingston will have to be written off as one which was dominated by the Parliamentarians. . . . Here it is Jan. 10 and not a single report of a $1,000 home-and-home match game challenge. . . . An all-time record 17,143 alley beds had been certified by the American Bowling Congress through Nov. 29. This was a gain of 7190 beds over the corresponding period a year ago and 3173 above the 1956-57 all-time season's record of 67,969. . . . The death of Ray J. Hover of New York, executive director and honorary member of the American Bowling Congress, came as a great shock and is a distinct loss to Kingston bowling. He was past president of the New York State and New York City bowling associations. Hover made frequent trips to Kingston in the pre-war period for KBA functions and to watch special matches. He threw considerable weight behind Kingston's successful bid for its first New York State tournament a few years back. Without men like Ray Hover, Al Lattin, Les Buckley of Albany and John O. Martino it could never have happened. Strictly from hindsight, maybe it would have been just as well if it hadn't.

THE FINISHING TOUCHES: A bowling ball hits only three pins when you bowl a strike. The important thing is to pick out the right pins. . . . Robert Baube of St. Louis rolled 12 strikes in a row but scored only 290. The 168-average bowler opened his third game with a gutter ball—then rolled 12 straight strikes. The first of his 12 strikes, naturally, counted only a spare since it came on his second ball in the first frame. . . . Patricia Ann Van Gaasbeck, secretary to Harry duBuis Frey at the Freeman Publishing Co., has a 276 single to her credit and averaged 176 in San Diego, Calif. before coming to Kingston. But, before you run for the phones, girls, here's a tip: she's permanently retired.

Ann Toner on Spree

Basketeers and 'Gales Win in Women's League

Ann Toner, Nightingale forward in the Women's City basketball league, poured 23 points through the hoop as her squad trounced the Starlettes, 34-18, last night at the MJM gym.

Rosemary Pillsworth meshed 17 points and Betty Mower had 14 to spark the Basketeers to a 36-27 decision over the Herricans. Toner hit with 11 baskets and had one free throw and was assisted by Judy Kelder's 11 points, as the Nightingales led 16-8 at the half. Rosemary De Paola paced the Starlettes with 12.

Basketeers overcame a 10-11 first period deficit to breeze ahead 21-15 at halftime. They widened their lead by four points in a brisk second half.

Miss Pillsworth canned eight deuces for the Basketeers, Carol Dyckes (10) and Pat Burke (9) were top scorers for Herri-

Pine Plains Cagers

Meet Poughkeepsie

On Same Program

Kingston's municipal auditorium will be the capital of mid-Hudson basketball Monday night (Jan. 13) when undefeated Byrne Chevrolts meet Stewart Field and the feuding Pine Plains Bombardiers and Poughkeepsie Stallions appear on the same bill.

Coach Red Murray's Chevries, the only undefeated team in the league, are favored to make it five in a row against the service cagers.

Pine Plains, stunned by Fishkill, 68-53, last night, is expected to make lineup changes to meet the powerful Poughkeepsie threat.

The Stallions have been whipped three times running, but that was all in the past. At Wednesday's stormy league meeting in Kingston they were granted permission to add three topnotch cagers to their roster.

The three, of course, are Chet Forte, Ed Kolokowski and Ed O'Connor. Manager George Stuetzle of Pine Plains had protested addition of the former college stars to the Poughkeepsie roster on the grounds they would make the Stallions too strong for the rest of the league. The league's executive committee certified the players by a 3-1 vote.

Scheduled to Play

Manager John Babiarz says all three stars will definitely be in the lineup against Pine Plains. Forte is the all-time Columbia scoring champion who played a few games with Pine Plains during the 1956-57 season. His signing by Poughkeepsie came as a surprise to league followers, who expected him to bob up in a Bombardier uniform.

Forte was voted United Press collegiate player of the year last spring.

Kolokowski, of course, is well known to Kingston fans having played with Slicker's Delivery in the Kingston Basketball tournament in which he won MVP honors in 1957. A Siena College product, he is tremendous rebounder and scorer.

O'Connor, a graduate of St. Patrick's Academy, was a varsity performer under Coach Ken Norton at Manhattan College.

Dwyer Hits 21 Points

Columbia Ted Dwyer's 21 points failed to save the Bombardiers from a 68-53 creaming at the hands of Fishkill, last night at the Wappingers Central gym.

Manager Stuetzle's quintet trailed from the opening tap and was behind 33-27 at halftime. Dwyer was the only player in double figures as the Bombardiers suffered their second straight loss after three opening wins.

Ropes and Wilner scored 17 points each for Fishkill.

Knicks Unawed By Boston Five

By The Associated Press

The New York Knickerbockers are not the best in the National Basketball Assn. but they are doing more than any of the others in keeping the Boston Celtics from making a complete runaway in the Eastern Division.

The Knicks, who snapped Boston's 14 game winning streak at the start of the season, and the Celtics have met six times. Each has won three.

The New Yorkers caught the Celtics without Bill Russell last night and squared the series with a 136-123 victory in the first half of a doubleheader at Syracuse. The Nats then took advantage of the opening, edged Minneapolis 127-122, and moved within 5½ games of Boston. New York, going above .500, pulled within eight games of the top.

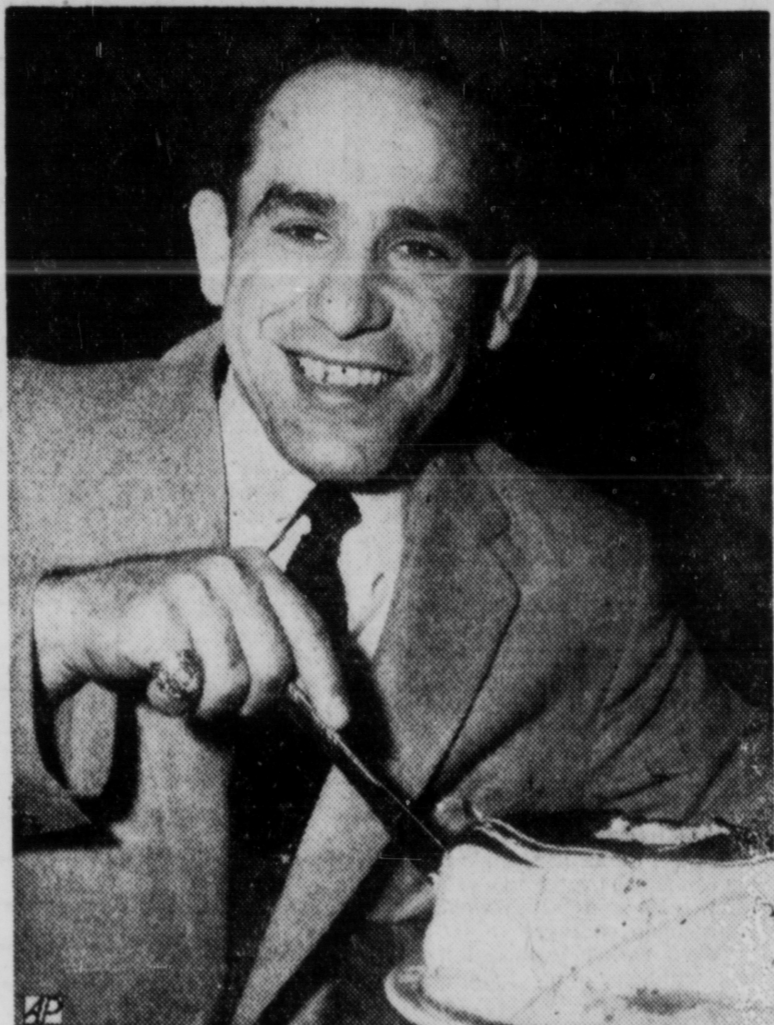

The league standings:

EASTERN DIVISION

SMALLER SLICE THIS YEAR—Yogi Berra is still able to smile even though the New York Yankees pay him less money this year. The veteran catcher cuts cheesecake in club's New York office when he signed his 1958 contract. Yogi indicates he took a slight cut in salary. It is believed he signed for $50,000. (AP Wirephoto)

Yogi Blames Burdette

Berra Signs $50,000 Contract With Yanks

The needling was all in fun. Berra had just signed his 1958 contract at the Yankees' Fifth Avenue office. And this was a press conference to announce it.

Berra told the boys he had taken a "slight cut." By the mysterious process known only to baseball writers, it was decided by him, and insinuation that Yogi will get about $50,000 next summer instead of $55,000 — a major slice by sports-writers' standards.

Berra had a poor year. His .251 average was the lowest of his career, major or minor, and almost 400 hits less his lifetime record. Still he hit 24 homers and drove in 82 runs, both tops for a major league catcher in 1957. He also led all the receivers with a .995 fielding average if anybody pays attention to such things.

Charlie Manfro built up a full head of steam to power a 636 series on lines of 198, 192 and 246 in last night's session of the Sportsman's Major.

Fred Schryver slammed 203-225-610 and Charlie Gildersleeve decked 214-200-604.

Miss Phyllis Wolff, a power bowler on occasions, topped a hefty 564 triple, with games of 165, 211 and 188 in the Central Rec Women's loop.

Ted Williams Named 1957 Athlete of Year

By MURRAY ROSE
The Associated Press

Ted Williams, king of the batters at the age of 39, today was named the outstanding Male Athlete of the Year for 1957 in the annual Associated Press year-end poll.

It was the first time in his long, stormy and dramatic career that the tall Boston Red Sox slugger was chosen for the honor, one of the great prizes in sports.

The recognition came seven weeks after he was nosed out by Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees for the most valuable player award of the American League.

The selection by a committee of baseball writers kicked a p a mighty storm because one writer picked Williams for ninth place and another name him tenth.

In the AP poll, Williams won by a whopping margin over Milwaukee pitcher Lew Burdette, the star of the world series, with Middleweight Boxing Champion Carmen Basilio a trailing third.

Mantle, winner of the AP's Athlete of the Year poll for 1956 and the American League's MVP for 1956 and 1957, finished in a tie for 13th this year with only one first place designation and 14 points. Williams received 85 first place votes from the 214 sports writers and sportscasters who participated in the poll, and 434 points. Points were counted on a basis of three for first, two for second and one for third.

Burdette Trails
Burdette, who hurled three complete, winning games to beat the Yankees in the series, collected 54 first place votes and 226 points.

Basilio, who moved up from the welterweight championship to the middleweight throne by defeating Sugar Ray Robinson in a stirring battle, garnered 17 first-place votes and 113 points.

Mantle received one first-place nomination, two for second, and one third.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles—Frederick C. Miller Memorial Trophy, awarded to the winner of the AP poll, will be presented to Williams later this month.

Williams, who broke into organized ball with San Diego in 1936 and served two stints as a Marine pilot, hit .388 last season to capture his fifth American League batting title. He set a record by winning the title at 39 and it was the highest mark in the majors since Ted himself won in 1941 with an almost incredible .406.

The sharp-eyed outfielder clouted 38 homers and the won slugging title, too, with a remarkable .731 mark.

Considering his age, this probably was his greatest year. And he accented it by playing most of the season with the enthusiasm of a rookie and despite several ailments that benched him at times.

To Map Details For New Giant Park in Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mayor George Christopher predicted today that details would be completed next month on a plan for a municipal stadium for the San Francisco Giants' games.

Christopher said the stadium would be financed largely through a non-profit corporation but eventually would become the exclusive property of the club.

"It's a lucrative deal for the city," the mayor said, "because it doesn't cost us anything and we gain 70 acres."

Cincinnati Ace Scores 56 Points For Garden Mark

By The Associated Press

Oscar Robertson, a hep hoosier who scores points and shuns stardom, was the big man of college basketball today, the toast of even the usually blasé, hard to please New York critics.

The sophomore from Indianapolis had 'em off their seats and thumbing record books last night, scoring 56 points as Cincinnati's barrelling Bearcats whipped Seton Hall 118-54.

Out-scoring the Pirates all by himself, Oscar bettered the all-time record by a collegian in Madison Square Garden for total points and field goals—and was every bit as good a team man as he was a scorer.

It was a whale of a show by the 6-5 kid, boosting the twice-beaten Bearcats, ranked seventh in this week's Associated Press poll, into their ninth victory.

North Carolina Wins

Third-ranked and once beaten North Carolina, meanwhile, pulled away late in the game and defeated Virginia 82-66 in an Atlantic Coast Conference scrap. The Tar Heels, now 11-1, were the only other top 10 team in action.

Robertson's production wiped a pair of pretty-fair players out of the Garden record book. It bettered Harry Boykoff's 54 points for St. John's (Brooklyn) against St. Francis (Brooklyn) in 1947 and topped by one the field goal record set by DePaul's all-time great, George Mikan, with 21 against Rhode Island in 1945.

Robertson's 56 points were nowhere near the national, major college record (Furman's All-America Frank Selvy scored 100 vs Newberry in 1954), nor did it push him past Kansas' Wilt Chamberlain in the season scoring race. Oscar now has scored 353 points for a 32.1 average. Wilt has a 32.2 average on 322 points in 10 games.

Cortland Cagers Top Clarkson Five, 84-72

CORTLAND (AP) — The Cortland Teachers' basketball quintet loped to its fourth victory in seven starts last night, downing Clarkson 84-72.

Ahead early in the game, Cortland stretched its 37-31 half-time lead with nine and eight-point strings in the closing minutes.

Clarkson's Bob Shepard was high scorer with 26 points, while Tom Murray led the host squad with 17.

Paul Brown Gets Preview of 1958 Browns' Rookies

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Tomorrow's Senior Bowl game is made to order for South Coach Paul Brown in at least one respect:

He'll get a comparative look at two quarterbacks he'll probably be seeing a lot of later on. Both signal-callers have been drafted by his Cleveland Browns.

Brown has picked Arkansas' George Walker, a 1956 Cleveland draft choice, as his No. 1 quarterback.

North Coach Joe Kuharich, whose Washington Redskins have only two draftees in the ninth annual all-star game as compared with five for the Browns, will use Michigan State's Jim Ninowski as his starting quarterback. Ninowski was Cleveland's fourth draft pick last fall.

One of the North's halfbacks will be Washington's top draft choice, Mike Sommer of George Washington. The other Redskins draftee is Tennessee's Bill Anderson, who will play safety for the South squad.

Other Senior Bowlers drafted by Cleveland are Fred Dugan, Dayton (Ohio), offensive end for the North; Curry Juneau, Mississippi, offensive guard for the South.

Professional oddsmakers have picked the South as a one-point favorite, despite the Yankees' weight advantage.

The weatherman predicted fair and mild game weather, with the temperature around 60 degrees.

NBC will televise the clash. Kickoff is at 3 p. m., est.

Streak in Reverse

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP)—When Wake Forest opens its 1958 football campaign it will start with a 12-game losing streak. Besides losing all 10 games last season the Deacons lost their last two contests in 1956. Last year they tallied only 64 points in 10 games. Their rivals made 225 points.

Cardinals Reach Into Canada for New Head Coach

CHICAGO (AP)—Now that the Chicago Cardinals have plucked 41-year-old Frank Ivy from the Canadian Football League as their 19th head coach, the question is:

Can Ivy, well versed in winning under Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma and a successful coach in Canadian football, revive the cellar-dwelling Cards into a real contender in the National Football League?

Ivy, who was appointed coach last night succeeding the resigned Ray Richards, faces a still challenge—a challenge that has seen eight Card coaches shuffle out of Chicago in the last 10 years.

But, Ivy says he's used to winning and that's enough for Cardinals Managing Director Walt Wolfner.

In announcing Ivy's appointment, Wolfner told newsmen: "Ivy's the man we wanted since Richards resigned Saturday and we feel he'll do a fine job. He's got the winning touch and it's bound to rub off on the players. He's a hard-working coach. He's the answer to our problems."

Canadiens Streaking To Lop-Sided Lead

By The Associated Press

The Montreal Canadiens were 17 points in front of the National Hockey League pack today as the result of the greatest outburst of scoring this season. And the Detroit Red Wings were in third place following their best effort of the campaign.

The Canadiens riddled the Chicago Black Hawks' defense last night for a 11-3 victory and the Red Wings marched past Boston with a 6-1 decision over the Bruins.

Cornell Soccer Ace Makes All-America

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1957 All-America Soccer Team was announced today by the National Soccer Coaches Assn.

A. Huntley Parker of Brockport State Teachers College, chairman of the all team selection committee, said 18 colleges were represented on the first two teams. The Coach Association began a three-day meeting tonight.

The first team had John Nelson of Cornell at right fullback.

Top Ski Jumpers Set for Trials For World Squad

ISHPEMING, Mich. (AP) — A streamlined two-week conditioning period has primed 15 top candidates for the start of ski jumping trials today which will determine the United States team for the World Championship Meet in Finland.

Under the instruction and watchful eye of Olav Ulland of Seattle—Norwegian-born veteran with 40 years of competitive ski jumping and coach of the 1956 U. S. Olympic Team—the candidates have followed a rigorous training course leading to the three-day trials on imposing Suicide Hill.

Weather permitting, a field of about 33 top-graded riders will make three jumps daily. Their best six efforts, judged on distance and form, will count toward total points in selecting the team. The six highest point-makers will comprise the squad. Two alternates also will be named.

The team, whose assistant coach is Walter Bietila, four-time U. S. Olympic Team member, will leave New York for Europe Feb. 17. It will compete in warm-up meets in the U. S., as well as in Europe before entering the F. I. S. (Federation Internationale de Ski) World Championships in Lahti, Finland, in March.

Among the 15 who have been given the special training and are ranked by the National Ski Assn., as "most likely" to win berths on the team, is Art Devlin of Lake Placid, N. Y.

Boating Millions

NEW YORK (NEA)—Figures show that 35 million Americans participated in boating in 1957.

"LET GEORGE DO IT"

Typhoon Rakes Islands

GUAM (AP)—Typhoon Ophelia raked the Ponape district of the Caroline Islands Friday morning with 100 miles an hour winds, destroying houses and injuring at least three persons.
High Commissioner D. H. Nuckler said at Trust territory headquarters that Ponape reported about one-third of the housing at Kolonia Island was demolished and all other structures damaged.
The Trust territory ship Chicot reported that Jaboro Island suffered extensive property damage and three persons were injured—it was not known how severely.
A Navy plane from Kwajalein picked up the injured and took them to Majuro Island Hospital.

City's 5 Above Is Coldest Day Here For This Winter

Temperatures ranging from five above zero to a few degrees below were reported in the area today.

Kingston's five above reported by the city engineer's office marked the coldest day, to date, in the season, but the overnight drop was far from any kind of a record for the date.

In the Zena filter plant area of the local reservoir, the mercury hit two degrees below, but it just made zero at the head-works of the Ashokan reservoir.
The low in Kingston came at 4:30 a. m. The high temperature Thursday was 24 degrees at 1:30 p. m. The mercury was at 24 again by noon today, and forecasts indicated warmer weather ahead.
Unofficial temperatures as low as four and five degrees below zero were reported in other areas of the county.

Tickets Not Given On Special Order, No Big Drive On

Police Chief Raymond VanBuren today emphasized the point that tickets being issued for parking meter and other violations in business areas are being done in compliance with city ordinances, and are not the result of special order or a sudden drive to catch violators.

Some persons, he noted, appear to have the impression that new special order is being made to round up violators, especially in the uptown area.
Actually, he said, the police department, during the holiday rush, was not equipped with sufficient manpower to cope with all traffic problems in every area when traffic was generally heavier than in earlier months of the year.
This, in some instances, led to the belief that the department had relaxed enforcement of this, was not so, he stressed, nor is it true that he or Mayor Edwin F. Radel, or anyone else, has issued any special order to clamp down on violators. Violations, he said, are being dealt with where they are found.

Chief Says Space Heaters Should Be In Working Order

Fire Chief James M. Brett, emphasizing the fact that the city had two fires yesterday attributed to defective space heaters, today issued a warning that the units should be kept in proper working order at all times.
The chief advised all service men and installers that oil-fired space heaters must be installed in compliance with provision of the building code, as must every other type heating unit.
"All safety precautions must be taken," he stressed, "particularly those pertinent to constant level valves." Yesterday's fires, he stressed, were due to excessive flow of oil, and he warned that all home owners using oil-burning space heaters, to check with the companies and individuals who service them, to determine with certainty, that the level valves and other units are in proper order.

Saugerties Sets Adult Registration

Registration for Saugerties Central School adult education courses at Main Street School is being held in Room 3 during school hours.
New courses being offered at this time are landscaping, income tax preparation, driver education and elementary science for the layman. There are also some vacancies in a few courses already in progress: metal work, physical fitness for women, ceramics, sewing and woodworking.
Miss A. Frances Larned may be contacted at the Main Street School for information concerning time and place of classes.
All adult education courses which are already in progress will resume meetings beginning next week.

Red Note Blunts Impact of Ike's Talk in Europe

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin's proposal for summit talks today blunted the impact of western European opinion of President Eisenhower's call for a summit through strength.

Instead of having the newspapers all to himself, Eisenhower had to share space with Bulganin and in some cases took second place to the Soviet premier.

But there were no immediate signs that Bulganin had caused new divisions of opinion in western ranks.

Importance Seen

Rather western Europe's newspapers gave their readers the impression that Eisenhower and Bulganin were engaging in a dialogue of peace—a conversation that did not fit together very well but was of tremendous importance for the entire world.
Except in the Communist papers, editorial writers gave support to the lines of the President's State of the Union message. But there were doubts whether the President could secure final congressional approval for his expensive and complex program.

The independent Times of London said in its editorial: "Trying to do too much at once may have hampered the American effort hitherto."
Newspapers pointed out that Bulganin's notes amounted to a summary of all Soviet proposals made in the past 12 months. Some said, too, that he was using a tricky kind of timing.

Bulganin not only had his proposals hit world news channels while they were handling the Eisenhower message, but the Soviet premier made his latest move while the western powers still were considering their replies to messages from him last month.

No U. S. Rush

The west showed no signs of being rushed into top-level talks. London's conservative Daily Telegraph said in its news columns: "It is most unlikely that the western powers will agree to such a meeting without holding a foreign ministers' or other lower-level conference first."

First reaction to Eisenhower's speech from the other side of the Iron Curtain came from the East German Communist party organ Neues Deutschland. It called it "disappointing" and claimed it was keyed entirely to American armament policy "without mentioning with a single word the many concrete Soviet proposals aimed at decreasing international tension."

See Bottle as Fake

LUEBECK, Germany (AP)—Opinion mounted today that a mysterious bottle message purportedly tossed from the sinking windjammer Pamir is a fake.
The message charges that Capt. Joseph Diebitsch, who drowned along with 79 crewmen, was to blame for Germany's worst maritime disaster since World War II. A British postal worker for the note Sunday on a beach in southwest England.

The original message arrived today and was promptly examined by the Maritime Board which is studying the sinking of the sailing vessel in an Atlantic storm Sept. 21.

Joe Louis, U. S. Reach Agreement On Tax Payment

CHICAGO (AP)—Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis says he has signed an agreement with the federal government to make payments on his back income taxes of $1,250,000 at the rate of $20,000 a year.

Arthur J. Wilson, Louis' accountant, indicated that an understanding has been reached with the Internal Revenue Service on Louis' tax delinquencies and that an agreement has been set to resolve the matter.

"However, I want to make it clear that the government has not entered into any agreement to accept less than the amount owed," Wilson said last night. "We have some hope that if he follows the plan we have agreed upon, the government in a few years may call matters even."

The Internal Revenue review board went over Louis' tax problems Monday.

Under the agreement, Louis said he will turn over to the Internal Revenue Service the $20,000 he receives in salary each year from the International Boxing Club, of which he is director. He also receives $4,800 a year from the Joe Louis Milk Co. for public relations work and $8,200 from a recording firm for services he did not specify.

Louis said he will live on the money from the milk and recording firms.

Louis earned $4,606,721.69 in his 17 years as a professional and he once commented that "I just 'on' know where all the money went."

Dorphan Marine Denies He Was Cruel to Sailors

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—Marine Sgt. Robert J. Barbuti of Schenectady, N. Y., today denied before a military court that he stomped on a Navy prisoner's bare feet, rammed a pencil up a man's nose until it bled or banged two sailors' heads together to the rhythm of a Mario Lanza record.

The burly former assistant warden at the Sasebo Naval Base brig in south Japan said he only used his foot to shove the feet of several prisoners into the proper position for attention, tapped a man's forehead with a pencil while bawling him out and struck the sailors' shoulders together—not their heads—"to shake them up."
"In time to the record?" asked his civilian defense attorney, Frank H. Scolinos of Tokyo and Los Angeles.

"No, sir, it never happened," Barbuti replied.
The 205-pound, 23-year-old sergeant denied all 28 counts of cruelty to prisoners charged to him except one—slugging. He said that man told him, "Sir, I believe you are the fattest man in the brig." The charges carry a total maximum penalty of more than 30 years in prison.

Tired of Bandits

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Robert Ratliff, 35, has had enough. He announced he was quitting his job after the grocery store he manages was robbed for the fourth time in six months. The bandits beat him over the head with a pistol in the last robbery.

Albania to Free Flier, Jet Soon

PARIS (AP)—Communist Albania promises to release a U. S. Air Force flier and his jet trainer as soon as the weather clears.

The Albanian legation in Paris telephoned the U. S. Embassy last night that Maj. Howard Curran and his T33 jet would be freed. The Tacoma, Wash., pilot disappeared Dec. 23 while flying from France to Italy.

The case of the American, who was forced down for flying over Albanian territory, paralleled that of a British cargo plane held briefly by Albania last week. In both cases the Communists apparently decided that the pilots had trespassed by mistake.

'Trigger' Burke Dies in Chair

OSSINING (AP)—Elmer (Trigger) Burke, cold-blooded killer convicted of murdering his best friend in a barroom brawl, died last night with a prayer on his lips in Sing Sing Prison's electric chair.

The cocky, 39-year-old Burke, who might have saved his life by talking about some unsolved gangland slayings and robberies, entered the death chamber accompanied by the prison Catholic chaplain and praying with him.

Smiles at Witnesses

Burke turned to the witnesses and smiled. He waved a hand at a witness—who waved back but later said he never knew the condemned man. But Burke said nothing aside from words softly spoken in prayer as he was strapped into the chair.

It was ironic that the small and wiry Burke—who was often accused of murdering for hire—ran afoul of the law for keeps after he shot down his pal, Edward "Poochie" Walsh, in a west side Manhattan bar, in a fit of rage.

A probation report on Burke, a World War II Ranger, said he proudly boasted of the only profession he ever knew—that of a strong-arm guy and triggerman feared by even the top-dog toughs along the New York waterfront.
Walsh, 23-year-old longshoreman, was slain in 1952. Burke couldn't be found for questioning. In 1954, he was arrested in Boston after he machine-gunned, but only wounded, Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, a key figure in the million-dollar cash holdup of Brink's armored car service.

Gun for Hire

Police said Burke had been hired to rub out O'Keefe to settle an underworld wrangle over disposition of the Brink's loot.

Burke was jailed in Boston for possession of a machine gun, the only charge authorities could pin on him. On Aug. 28, 1954, he made a sensational prison break. A year later he was nabbed by the FBI at Folly Beach, S. C., then was taken to New York City to stand trials for the Walsh slaying.

Celebrating Anniversary

Lyon, center of the French silk industry, is celebrating its 2,000th anniversary. Lyon has a population of more than 470,000.

'All Bad Seed'

Believe Woman Slew Children, Took Own Life

RENO, Nev. (AP)—"We are all bad seed," read a note left by a wealthy insurance executive's estranged wife.

Her bullet torn body and those of the couple's three children were found side by side yesterday on a bedroom floor of their $50,000 home.

Victims of what police described as child killing and suicide were Mrs. D. Yvonne Cavanaugh, 34, recently released from a mental hospital, and her children, Anthony, 9, Carol, 8, and Kevin, 4.

Separated 6 Months

Robert Cavanaugh, husband and father, who had been separated from his wife more than six months, was in Chicago when the shootings occurred—apparently after the two older children returned from school Wednesday. Cavanaugh is secretary of the Illinois Commercial Men's Assn. of Chicago.

Asst. Dist. Atty. William Raggio said of blood-spattered and bullet-pocked upstairs walls, indicating that Mrs. Cavanaugh may have chased and shot the children in various rooms before bringing them downstairs to lay them in a row on a blanket in her lavish bedroom.
The children's bodies were riddled by bullets from a .25 caliber automatic found beside their mother.

Police said more than 20 shots had been fired.

Maid Finds Bodies

A maid, Dora Lee Halley, found the bodies when she came to work yesterday.

A note the maid missed was tacked to a side door. "Do not enter, call police," it said. Another read:

"We are all bad seed. There never were four more unhappy and unhealthy people, and it's getting worse every day."

Friends said the Cavanaughs, married 10 years ago, seemed happy and were active in Reno's social life until last April, when Mrs. Cavanaugh suffered a nervous breakdown.

She was committed to a private hospital in Portland, Ore., but returned home in November as cured. She refused to see her husband, however.
